PANIC AND DEATH IN A FIRE

[illegible] N. J., Nov. 2.—In [illegible] to-day of the [illegible] Alerts' Amusement, a vaudeville house at [illegible] and Market streets, one man was killed, one leaped from a window, spraining his ankle, and 150 persons, mostly women and children, were rescued panic-stricken out of an adjoining apartment house by the firemen. The dead man was [illegible], a carpenter, who had fought his way down through the smoke to the ground floor, where he fell suffocated and died before help could reach him. The fire started, it is believed, from a lighted cigarette.

4 STEEL MEN FINED

Sentence was imposed by Judge Bishop in the Superior Criminal Court this afternoon in the cases of the "steel men" who were indicted upon the charges of conspiracy and collusion because they had an understanding as to bids for boilers to be installed in the Mary Hemenway, Albert Palmer and Agassix schoolhouses in 1904.

The defendants withdrew a former plea of not fuilty and said they were guilty. Then they were fined $500 each. Thep paid the fines.

They are John E. Lynch of the Dodge Boiler Works, Duncan D. Russell of the James Russell Boiler Works, Charles F. Koopman, Jr., of the Cunningham Iron Works Company and Edward P. Robinson of the Atlantic Works Company. The indictment against Alf. E. Cox of the Atlantic Works Company was nol prossed, as he is a member of the some concern as Robinson and the latter had agreed to plead guilty.

Cox is a former treasurer of the Republican State Committee.

The conspiracy of the boiler works men was unearthed as the result of Finance Commission investigation. Restitution, it was stated to the court, had been made in the sum of $1,100. This payment to the city is recorded on the municipal civil court records in the form of a suit instituted by the city of Boston against the companies represented by the defendants.

Collins's Life An Example to Young Men, States Long

"LANDING on our shores a child, all the best opportunities of American life had opened at once wide before him, and he seized them. What a lesson to all young men in humble circumstances. What seems so exceptional in the pathway of his career is really only the ordinary and natural pathway that is open to any one who will walk in it—not always to the same goals, but always to equal rewards of self-respect and faithful service. The exceptional thing in him is that he was wise enough to choose the right path. I am right in saying that his was from the first a fortunate career, but it was so because, like Lincoln, he improved the means to make it so."—From oration of Ex-Governor John D. Long at Collins dedicatory exercises.

SON UNVEILS MEMORIAL TO COLLINS

The Patrick A. Collins shaft, erected to the memory of Boston's former Mayor, was formally dedicated today at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and the Charlesgate. The memorial was unveiled promptly at 11 o'clock by Paul Collins, son of the former Mayor.

The dedication services were opened by Archbishop O'Connell with the Lord's Prayer. Then the statue, by Sculptor Kitson, was unveiled by the young son of the man to whom it is dedicated.

Long Makes Address.

In th parlor of the Somerset the dedication oration was delivered by Ex-Governor John D. Long, former Secretary of the Navy. The exercises were attended by Mrs. Collins, wife of the former Mayor; Miss Marie Collins, his daugaer, and the son, Paul Collins.

The memorial is fifteen feet high. It is the work of Sculptor Kitson, who also designed the statue to General Banks, which was recently unveiled in this city. A heroic bust of Patrick Collins surmounts a ten-foot shaft, while flanking it on either side are two statues, Erin facing the east and Columbia facing the west.

Sculptor Kitson was not present at the exercises as he is abroad. Mrs. Kitson, however, who aided her husband in the designing of the memorial, was there. Among the prominent public men who attended were Mayor Hibbard, Archbishop O'Connell, John D. Long, Christopher J. Fitzgerald, ex-Mayor Samuel A. Green, Otis Kimball, Robert M. Keating, M. A. Toland, Dr. Francis A. Donaghue, Hon. Joseph H. O'Neil, James J. Phelan, Bernard Corr, Godfrey Morse, Bernard J. Rothwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce; P. J. Kennedy, George U. Crocker, former city treasurer; Mark Crehan, John O'Callaghan, secretary of the United Irish League; Rev. Dr. E. A. Horton, chaplain of the Massachusetts Senate; ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart and Edward J. Donovan.

Hibbard's Tribute.

Mayor Hibbard spoke briefly, and in closing made the following quotation from one of the late Mayor's characteristic political addresses:

"I kneel at the altar of my fathers and I love the land of my birth, but in American politics I know neither color, race nor creed. Let me say here and now that there are no Irish voters among us. There are Irish-born citizens like myself, and there will be many more of us, but the moment the seal of the court was impressed upon our papers, we ceased to be foreigners and became Americans. Americans we are; Americans we will remain, and your children, native-born men, and mine, I trust will live together in amity and peace in this great and free country as Americans. In this lies the safety of our institutions, in this is the guarantee of the Union."

BELIEVE WOMAN SLAIN BY A GANG OF THUGS

MRS. MARGARET SMITH VICTIM AT LAWRENCE. HUSBAND ALSO ATTACKED.

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—The police of Methuen are to-day searching for a gang of desperate thugs who killed Mrs. Margaret Smith of that town right in the rear of her boarding house in Broadway, late last night, while others were struggling to overpower her husband.

The manner of the woman's death is as yet a mystery. The medical examiner, Dr. Dow, is to hold an autopsy on the woman's body this afternoon. In the meantime he will not state how he thinks death came.

Mrs. Smith, who is fifty-two years of age, was on the way home to her boarding house with her husband about 10:30 last night. According to the husband just as they were passing an alleyway, which is beside their home, four or five rushed out and seized them.

Smith was hustled down the dark alleyway to the back yard of the boarding house and then the thugs who had him began to beat him [illegible].

He says that his wife fell into the hands of two other highwaymen and he heard her call out. That was the last he saw of her alive.

Charles Hoile, a boarder at No. [illegible] Broadway, was in his room when he heard the sounds of a scuffle at the [illegible] of the house. Then he heard Smith's cries for aid. He rushed to the window and saw Smith battling fiercely with a strange man.

Hoile says that he called out to Mr. Smith that he would soon come to the rescue. He ran downstairs and out into the back yard, and just as he did so the man who had waylaid Smith fled.

At the same time Patrolman Oliver, who had been passing and heard the noise, ran into the yard and almost fell over the prostrate body of Mrs. Smith. A great bruise marked the left side of her head and face.

She was carried unconscious into the house and Dr. Burges was summoned, but before he arrived the woman was dead.

Smith's head and face were bruised and scratched. The medical examiner was summoned and viewed the body and this afternoon he will hold an autopsy.

The police of Methuen are doing everything in their power to discover the members of the desperate gang told about by Mr. Smith. They have no clew as yet.

CALLS HAINS INSANE; TRIES TO BALK TRIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Details of the confession of Mrs. Claudia Libbey Hains, which it is alleged drove her husband, Captain Peter Conover Hains, to insanity and the killing of William E. Annis, were made public today.

Captain Hains and his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, were taken to Flushing and arraigned before Justice Aspinwall, in the Supreme Court, where District Attorney Darrin asked that the trial be set for T. Jenkins Hains for Monday. John F. McIntyre, senior counsel for the Hains brothers, interposed a strenuous objection.

"Captain Hains, who is a material witness in the trial of T. Jenkins Hains, is insane," the lawyer declared. "We will show by the testimony of eminent specialists that if he were compelled to undergo any strain now it would probably result in his death.

Physician Enters Case.

"While Captain Hains was abroad in the service of his country he received letters from his wife which dethroned his reason. He hurried back and accused his wife, and she confessed. In her confession she admitted that within a month after Captain Hains left Fort Hamilton, in October, 1907, she assumed improper relations with William E. Annis.

"We have the name of a physician in West Forty-third street, under whose care she was while she lived at a hotel in Manhattan under the name of Mrs. Anderson.

"This confession was signed on May 31, 1908.

"After Captain Hains brought suit for divorce Mrs. Hains denied these facts and brought a counter suit, making infamous charges against her husband. It was this which finally completely dethroned his reason.

"He has been studied by alienists for three months. One of these, Dr. L. S. Manson, will testify that if subjected to any strain now it would be incurable. Any strain such as testifying on the witness stand would impair his mental and physical health."

Judge Delays Decision.

Mr. McIntyre asked that he be given sufficient time to prepare his case and give Captain Hains a chance to recover. Judge Aspinall said that he believed in speedy trials, but he did not wish to force counsel for the defence to do anything prejudicial to his case. He granted an adjournment until later in the day to give counsel time to file affidavits, when he will announce his decision.

When the affidavits were handed up after court reconvened Judge Aspinall said he would render a decision on Monday. The Hains brothers were taken back to the Queens County jail in Long Island City.

JUDGE THROWS OUT 2 COUNTS IN MORSE CASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Two more counts in the indictments against Charles W. Morse and Alfred H. Curtis were dismissed by Judge Hough of the Federal Court today before counsel for the defence began to sum up. The counts referred to the Calvin Austin note for $100,000 discounted by Morse. This takes from the government one of the counts alleging misappropriation of the funds of the Bank of North America.

Ex-Congressman Littlefield of Maine began summing up for the defence, and apparently made no distinction between Morse and Curtis. He declared that neither could be convicted at the expense of the other.

Judge Olcott had earlier reopened the case for Morse for a few minutes to clear up a misunderstanding about the overdrafts of Morse. It was claimed by Mr. Austin that the note was discounted at the National Bank of North America and the proceeds used by Mr. Morse without his consent.

The elimination of these two charges is regarded as an important point in Morse's favor. It takes from the government's allegations one of the most important charges of misappropriation. The counts were thrown out, it is understood, upon the ground that the bank was in no way damaged by the transactions.

William N. Osgood's Appeal to the Voters

BY WILLIAM N. OSGOOD, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

William N. Osgood.

I appeal to every voter of independent thought and action to vote for me for Governor. I promise that I will be independent in thought and action if elected, and every man who is not controlled by the party machines and bosses and special privilege corporations should be in favor of a Governor of that sort.

If you are a Republican and cannot stomach the candidacy of Eben S. Draper your only recourse is to vote for me. There are a whole lot of Republicans of that kind, judging by the personal assurances I have received. Such men cannot vote for the Democratic candidate, for he typifies machine politics just as much as Draper does.

I am surprised at the large number of independent Republicans who are going to vote for me. I had an idea in the beginning that some would repudiate Draper, but I had no idea of the extent of the revolt against him as it has since been revealed to me.

Every Democrat who is sorrowful over the senseless decline into which the cheap bosses of his party have pitched it, and who is disgusted over the weak nominations that have been made, and who believes that he should register his protest against Democratic treachery and imbecility, should vote for the Independence ticket.

I fought side by side with William E. Russell and John W. Corcoran for a real Democratic party, and every honest Democrat who followed those great leaders should resent with me the plight the party has come to because of the surrender of principles for the favor and campaign contributions of the corporations.

A vote for me is a vote that will make the political spoilsmen sit up and take notice. And I maintain that a vote for my running mate, Robert J. McCartney, a real workingman and a real union man, should be cast by every man who works for a wage as well as by men who believe in giving the small business men a chance to succeed.

Robert J. M'Cartney's Appeal to Union Men

BY ROBERT J. M'CARTNEY,
CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Robert J. McCartney.

I have been a loyal union man for fifteen years, and I heartily subscribe to the official advice that the State Branch of the American Federation of Labor has issued to workingmen:

"Stand by your friends and defeat your enemies!"

Since the age of ten I have worked in a shop. I served my apprenticeship, joined my union, the Molders', and for two years have conducted a foundry of my own under the strictest of union conditions, even retaining my union card. For eight years I was the official head of the New England Molders.

The pride of my life is the work I have done for my fellow-craftsmen. What have the candidates of the other parties for Lieutenant-Governor done that entitles them to preference over me on the score of friendship for workingmen? Frankly, I believe organized labor cannot follow the advice of its official State organization and stand by its friends if they do not vote for me for Lieutenant-Governor.

Just as positively I insist that union men and all workers who desire the best working conditions should vote for William N. Osgood for Governor. He has been their friend in need and their friend indeed. For more than twenty years he has been conspicuously before the public as an advocate of reforms, and never has the finger of suspicion been pointed at him.

If anything could have been said against his character or reputation, does anyone doubt but that it would have been said? He has attacked the grasping corporations year after year, and surely they would have smirched him if they could have found anything against him.

He has consistently fought for the things that union labor wants, for the things the common people want and against grabs and deals that would have burdened the taxpayers.

If the edict of the State Branch, A. F. of L., is to be respected, then there is nothing left for union men to do, in my opinion, but to mark their ballots for the candidates of the Independence party. In that way only can organized labor best show its strength and honesty of purpose.

New England Men, Stand by Hisgen!

The Standard Oil Company may be with the Republican party this year or it may be with the Democratic party.

It has been for BOTH parties in the past.

It certainly is NOT with the Independence party.

Vote against the Standard Oil Company.

Vote for Hisgen, the NEW ENGLAND man, who has fought the Standard Oil Company all of his life and whose campaign for the presidency has at last torn the mask off of that criminal trust.

This Is The Way To Wash

With P. & G. Naphtha Soap. Try it, next washday.

WHITE CLOTHES:—Dip each piece in lukewarm water. Rub soap on the soiled parts and roll up. Pack rolls in a tub and cover with lukewarm (not hot) water. Let them soak half an hour or longer. Fill a tub half full of lukewarm (not hot) water; unroll each piece and rub soiled parts on the washboard, using fresh soap. The dirt will come out with little or no rubbing. Rinse in two warm waters and blue in a third cooler water. Excepting in cases of sickness, clothes need not be boiled. Hang them up to dry in sunshine and fresh air.

Isn't this simpler and easier and better than your present method? And wouldn't it be a good idea to try P.&G. Naphtha Soap and see if it really is as effective as we say it is?

The experiment costs little—a five cent cake is ample for a week's washing.

AMERICAN WILL GIVE COMPLETE RETURNS EARLY

Watch the BOSTON AMERICAN'S double display of election returns to-morrow night, if you wish to get quick and complete results from the national and local polls, and read the election extras of the AEMRICAN.

The BOSTON AMERICAN has arranged to display illuminated returns at two central points in the city.

One place will be in Summer street, opposite the BOSTON AMERICAN office. The other place will be in Adams square. Both are most convenient of access.

The returns as fast as received from city, State and country will be thrown on stereopticon screens. From time to time as returns accumulate, especially on the national ticket, compilations will be made showing how the voting stands up to the latest point of figuring.

To vary the mere reading of election figures the spectators will be entertained with moving pictures, portraits of candidates and other pictorial diversion.

During the evening the AMERICAN will issue extra election editions, containing all returns up to the time of going to press. If you cannot stay out to watch the bulletin service get the election extras, which will contain the latest news and figures.

Arrangements for securing returns at the BOSTON AMERICAN office are unusually complete. For the city and for New England there will be the reports of the AMERICAN'S own staff of correspondents. New York and national returns will be received from combined sources, including the Hearst News Service via the Hearst leased wire system, which extends from Boston to New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and the Pacific coast; the United Press service, the Western Union and Postal Telegraph returns, and the special service provided by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the American Bell Telephone Company.

The results thrown on the screens will be as speedy as time, distance and accuracy will allow.

The Summer street returns will be displayed on a screen on the Weeks Real Estate Trust building, No. 95 Summer street, opposite the AMERICAN office. This will be especially convenient for the people entering the city by the South station or coming in from the south by Dudley-street Elevated, and thence to Dewey square. It will also be handy of access to those entering town by way of Park-street subway.

In Adams square an immense screen will be suspended from the Leopold Morse building to Holmes, Luce & Company's building. The screen will be over the middle of the big square, where the returns can be seen easily by thousands.

People coming into the city from the North can easily walk from the North station to Adams square, or can ride from the North station elevated station to Adams square station and be directly at the point of bulletin service.

On previous election nights the BOSTON AMERICAN returns have been a feature, and the reputation for quick and complete service will be maintained this week.

CHINESE TROOPS BEATEN IN TIBET

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2.—Dispatches received here to-day state that there has been a revolutionary outbreak in Tibet, and the Chinese troops have been defeated.

LOOK FOR BIG VOTE FOR NEW PARTY TICKET

Power Reviews Situation; Synan and Doty Hopeful for the Old Parties.

Campaign managers have made their final claims and predictions as regards election results to-morrow. State Democratic Chairman James W. Synan says that Bryan and Vahey will each go out of Boston 20,000 in the lead. Chairman George H. Doty of the Republican Committee talks about a Taft plurality in Massachusetts nearly as big as the one Roosevelt had. He points out the decrease in Democratic registration.

T. O. Powers, executive secretary of the Independence League party State Committee, says that Hisgen and Graves will poll a larger vote than Hisgen got a year ago. Hisgen's vote made the Independence League the second party in the State numerically. Mr. Powers said:

"On the day before election the reports from committeemen show that there is a better feeling toward the Independence League than there was a year ago. That a larger vote is going to be polled for Hisgen and Graves than Thomas L. Hisgen received last year as the party candidate of Governor seems a foregone conclusion. The western section of the State will add materially to the Hisgen vote of 1907.

Osgood Will Gain.

"Even the managers of the Republican machine admit that Eben S. Draper is going to fall behind the vote received by Governor Guild last year. His loss will be William N. Osgood's gain. There can be no doubt about that.

"The Democratic candidate is too much of a Jack-in-the-Box proposition, jumping into the limelight every time the spring is pressed, to suit the disgusted Republican voters.

"These men figure that Draper is too tyrannical as an employer, too snugly hand in glove with the Republican bosses, too subservient to the special-privilege corporations, and, for other obvious reasons unfit to be the Governor of this Commonwealth.

"And they dismiss Vahey with the statement that he is not big enough for the job.

"I know as a matter of fact that many Democrats who remember the many years of hard work Mr. Osgood gave to the party when honest leaders were striving to build it up, will vote for him as a tribute to his sterling worth and as a rebuke to the small-fry leaders who have sold the party down in obedience to the command of the political paymasters.

"Watch the vote for Robert J. McCartney for Lieutenant-Governor.

"I look for a material increase in the vote for Osgood and McCartney over the vote for our State ticket last year."

In Congressional Districts.

Chairman Doty said on behalf of the Republican machine: "The Republican registration has been heavier. Democratic registration has fallen off. That points to a plurality for Taft nearly as big as that given Roosevelt four years ago. Draper will be elected Governor by a large plurality. We will elect all our State ticket. We have excellent prospects of electing Congressmen in the Tenth and Eleventh Districts."

Chairman Synan says: "Vahey will get a good vote for Governor. Massachusetts is conceded to Taft, but the Bryan vote will be the largest ever polled in this State. It will be the biggest ever given a Democratic candidate for President in Massachusetts. Both Bryan and Vahey will go out of Boston with 20,000 plurality. We will elect three Democratic congressmen from the Boston district."

James F. Carey, Socialist candidate for Governor, said: "Debs will receive a gratifying vote for President and our State ticket will get strong support. We have an organization in almost 200 cities and towns and we will have a surprise for the old parties to-morrow."

SWEARS BRYAN CALLED UNION MEN "WOLVES"

PITTSBURG, Nov. 2.—The current issue of the Union Reporter, published at Canton and Alliance, Ohio, and which, according to its masthead, is the "recognized organ of organized labor and the official journal of the central labor unions and trades assemblies of the Eastern Central Ohio district," contains the following affidavit:

To whom it may concern:

I, J. B. Cooper, being duly sworn, hereby certify that I am a painter, being a member of Local No. 6 of the Brotherhood of Painters and Paperhangers, and have worked at my trade in a number of cities throughout the country.

A number of years ago I was in Lincoln, Nebraska, working at my trade as a painter. A man named John Regan and myself took a contract to do some house painting for William J. Bryan, as day work, at a daily wage rate of two dollars per day. This was below the prevailing rate of wages considerably, and as work was scarce we took the job.

I remember that in talking the matter over with Mr. Bryan before he hired us he said: "These union men are wolves," and that he wouldn't pay what they asked, and "if union men weren't such wolves living expenses would be lower."

Regan and myself were both at that time non-union men, although we were both first-class mechanics at our trade. Since that time I have joined the Painters' Union and have worked at my trade in many leading cities as a union man and union official.

I have often thought since then that we must have been pretty hard up for work or we would have told that humbug, Mr. Bryan, what ought to have been told to him. In witness whereof I have here unto set my hand and seal, this 24th day of October, 1908.

(Signed) J. B. COOPER.
WILLIAM WILSON, Notary Public.

John Pringle, editor of the Labor World, and recognized as one of the best authorities on organized labor matters in this vicinity, said that the Union Reporter is all that is claimed for it in its masthead.

The affidavit of J. B. Cooper furnishes the climax to the revelations of Mr. Bryan's enmity toward union labor.

The first of these was made public by William Randolph Hearst in a speech opening the Independence party's campaign at Davenport, Ia., on Labor Day, in which an affidavit from James Campbell, former president of the International Association of Window Glass Workers, was produced, showing that Mr. Bryan had referred to union workers as a "lot of public beggars."

AUTO YEGGS CRACK SAFE; DODGE SHOT

Special to the Boston American.

EAST TEMPLETON, Nov. 2.—Three burglars came here in an automobile shortly after midnight and after blowing up the safe in the postoffice escaped with $500 in stamps while under revolver fire by two street railway employes. The railway men are George Hobbs and George Nitchie. They were going home from the railway power house when they saw the flashes of dark lanterns in the postoffice. They did not attack the burglars while at work, but hid until the safe-breakers came out and started for their automobile, which had been left with lights out in the shadow of trees on the other side of the Common. Then Hobbs and Nitchie opened fire on the burglars, who ran like deer to their car and were off down the road at the speed limit of the machine in a few moments. It is not known whether either of the burglars was wounded. They got no money from the safe which was wrecked. The interior of the postoffice was badly damaged by the explosion.

STARTS AT 58 TO "WALK" TO ENGLAND

Henry Stewart, despite his fifty-eight years, is walking from California to England, or so far as he can go afoot, to save money for his passage. To-day he was in the Newton Police Court, before Judge John C. Kennedy, on a charge of vagrancy, but as soon as he told his story was released and praised by the judge for his pluck.

LOOK FOR BIG LOWELL VOTE FOR OSGOOD

LOWELL, Nov. 2.—A record-breaking vote is expected here to-morrow. There has been no apathy in the campaign in this city. Over 1,500 names have been added to the voting list this year as against 553 last year.

That William N. Osgood will receive a flattering vote from his fellow citizens of Lowell there is no doubt. Mr. Osgood is very popular among Lowell people who recognize in him a man of conscience and ability.

Mr. Osgood has not held many rallies in this city, for the reason that he needs no introduction to Lowell voters. The people have long known him and will give him a handsome vote.

TEACHERS RUSH VOTES IN CONTEST

First Ballots Cast This Week Forge Ahead Standing of Melrose Woman.

VOTING GROWING HEAVIER

Voting resumed in lively fashion to-day in the BOSTON AMERICAN Free European Tour contest for Sunday school teachers of Boston and suburbs.

The first ballots to be cast for the week were for Miss Ernestine Atwood of Melrose, a teacher in the Unitarian Church Sunday School of that place, who is gradually climbing toward the top in District No. 4. Miss Atwood is popular in Melrose and friends are preparing to wage an active battle in her behalf.

Voting in the contest is getting heavier each week. This week, for example, it will be much heavier than last. And last week the voting was twice as heavy as the week preceding. The rivalry between the candidates for the BOSTON AMERICAN'S thirty-six free tours of Europe is growing more intense every day.

The leaders yesterday were as follows: District No. 1, Edith Pineo, Hyde Park; District No. 2, Elizabeth Bingham, Brookline; District No. 3, J. J. Mulvihill, Waltham; District No. 4, Maurice R. Flynn, Malden; District No. 5, Margaret T. Prest, Stoneham; District No. 6, Margaret M. Better, Revere; District No. 7, Mollie Elliot, Cambridge; District No. 8, Ella McCrillis, Somerville; District No. 9, Helena Tortorella, Boston.

MRS. McCLINTOCK TESTIFIES

That Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy Cured Her

"AGE NO IMPEDIMENT"

Mrs. Mary A. McClintock, of 1002 Spring Garden street, says: "I consider Munyon's 3X Rheumatic Remedy the safest and best cure for rheumatism ever offered a suffering public. I have been afflicted with the most painful and distressing rheumatism imaginable for upwards of three years. I was so bad with it that I suffered agonies when I was moved. It affected my back, shoulders and neck, and nothing gave me relief. When I was lifted up in the mornings I screamed with pain. I got a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and began taking it. I took one pellet every hour and the second day I felt relieved. I have now taken but one bottle and every pulse of pain has left my back and neck and I feel that it will never return. I am in my seventy-second year and can positively say that age is no impediment to the wonderful curative powers of Munyon's Remedies.

Democrats!

Remember= The Final Word

The constitution says that the clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court shall be elected by the people, not by the judges. The office of clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court is an elective one, not appointive. The candidate of the Republican County Ring raises the cry, "Keep the courts out of politics," yet he is the Republican candidate for the office.

JOHN F. CRONIN

IS THE REGULAR DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE
FOR CLERK OF THE SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT

It is the right of the people, according to law, to elect the clerk; otherwise you would not be called upon to exercise that privilege on Tuesday next. That is why John F. Cronin is the Democratic candidate, just as his opponent is the Republican candidate.

The candidate of the Republican county ring advances no reasons why you should vote for him except that he is indorsed by a list of lawyers. This list looks very formidable at first glance, but has it occurred to you that a large percentage of the names on this list are those of men who do not vote in Suffolk County. The lawyers who do vote in Suffolk County are nearly unanimous in indorsing John F. Cronin, the regular Democratic candidate.

The following are some well-known Suffolk County attorneys who heartily indorse the candidacy of John F. Cronin, and this list proves that Suffolk County lawyers who know the interests of the Suffolk County courts, and who vote in Suffolk County, approve of his election:

DEMOCRATIC VOTERS DON'T BE MISLED

John F. Cronin has met every issue that has been raised in this campaign fairly and squarely. He is eminently fitted to occupy this high office, having been born in Boston, educated in the Boston public schools, Harvard College and Harvard Law School. He is a prominent member of the Massachusetts bar, a member of the United States Circuit Court bar, and a member of the Boston Bar Association. John F. Cronin has been a successful practitioner in the courts of Massachusetts for the past 11 years, and this answers the Republican cry of "experience" that the Republican county ring candidate raises.

Suffolk County is Democratic and should elect Democrats to office. In every other court in the State where the Republicans have a majority, a Republican holds the office of clerk of the courts. Why should they also do this in Suffolk County, which is Democratic? Remember and mark a cross against the name of

AUERBACH IN FINAL APPEAL TO THE VOIERS

Shows How Keliher Has Repeatedly Worked Against People's Causes.

HIS CAREER IS DISSECTED

J. T. Auerbach to-day made the following final appeal:

MEN OF THE NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

Before you vote for Congressman to-morrow think of these things:

The Pure Food Act was "to prevent poisonous colors or flavors or other ingredient deleterious to health being used in foods. It prohibits any substance from being mixed and packed with it so as to reduce or lower or injuriously affect its quality. It prohibits the allowing of an article of food which consists in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid animal or vegetable substance or any portion of an animal unfit for food or that has died otherwise THAN BY SLAUGHTER. It prevents drugs used in sickness from being poisoned or adulterated." Ask Mr. Keliher what other Northern Democrat voted against this bill. If there is any other, what is his name?

One of the newspapers says that keeping a man in Congress adds to his influence. That is true, provided his influence is for the benefit of his district, but if it adds to his influence for evil, and if his sole interest in Congress is to defeat measures for the benefit of the community, is he desirable? I submit that Mr. Keliher's record shows that he has acted neither for humanity, honest business nor good government.

Think it over: What acts he has voted for, what acts he has voted against, what petitions he has presented, the acts he has dodged! In whose interest are they? For the men, women and children of his district, or in the interests of dishonest business, autocracy and oppression? Does an idle navy yard in Charlestown, does an unemployed unused ordnance yard, does Japanese labor, appeal to the skilled and unskilled workmen of the Ninth District, who want an opportunity to work?

How about a man who is afraid to go on record for lower telephone charges, who presents a petition against the Parcels Post, who presents a petition against a reasonable hour working day?

All parties declare for a revision of the tariff. Why not have a representative who can be fair to the manufacturer and square with the consumer, neither unduly favorable to one or timorous of the other. What in Mr. Keliher's career shows that he is that kind of a man?

Why not have a representative in Congress who believes in the upbuilding of the merchant marine? Mr. Keliher's vote on the ship subsidy bill, if it shows his opinion, and votes are supposed to show a man's opinion, shows that he does not believe in American ships, built by American labor, filled with American freight. It may suit the English ship owner, but ought it to suit the American manufacturer, the American consumer and the man who works?

There is no slavery quite so humiliating as submission to a party label, a tag, without regard to the worth of man or measure. It is not yet all powerful in American politics. A district in Wisconsin, as solidly Republican as this has been Democratic, has turned out Congressman Jenkins, a first lieutenant of Speaker Cannon, with whom Congressman Keliher is so popular. Are not Republicans running for Congress all over the United States on the platform that they will vote against the Speaker if they get elected? Decency and good citizenship, the privilege of working and a desire for better conditions ought to lead any voter to vote against Congressman Keliher.

I have given Congressman Keliher's record. He ought to be judged on it. There is not an untruth in any line. If it represents your view you ought to vote for him. If you believe it is time for a change to a man who has done a little for better conditions, who believes that big business can be honest, who does not believe that the man who works is the little brother of the ox, you ought to vote for me.

If you believe these things you ought to vote for me. If I understand real Democracy, real Republicanism and real Independence, then I stand for good government, for an improvement in conditions, affecting people's work, their business and their happiness. Your present representative shows by his actions that he is not a believer in any of these. Think it over and vote as you believe. J. T. AUERBACH.

WOMAN TRAPS THIEF; CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Surprised in House, Burglar Jumped Out of Window and Takes Flight.

With more than 100 men following at his heel crying "Stop thief!" "Catch that man!" and the like, William E. Williams fled down Columbus avenue in Roxbury to-day for half a mile until Patrolman Patrick H. Kirley and another officer brought him to bay near Zeigler's factory. Even then Williams put up a fight. As he yielded a bunch of burglar's keys was picked up from the pavement.

A woman's wit and a woman's screams started the hue and cry after Williams, which resulted in his spectacular flight and capture.

Mrs. Rose White, who lives with her husband on the first floor of No. 1,188 Columbus avenue, had occasion to go into her parlor at the front of the house about 10 o'clock to-day.

As she entered the room she saw a strange man carrying a dress suit case standing in the room. The intruder was startled, too. Dropping the suit case, he whipped a carpenter's chisel from his coat pocket and said:

"I'll kill you if you yell!"

At the same time he tried to pass Mrs. White and reach the front door. But Mrs. White is a healthy young woman, and her screams aroused the whole neighborhood. The man flung open a front window and vaulted to the sidewalk.

Mrs. White ran to the window screaming "He's a thief; catch him!" louder than ever.

Right through the most busy and crowded part of Roxbury, past the Roxbury Crossing station and then past the police station the man ran, followed by a crowd.

The policemen soon brought Williams to a halt.

In a satchel, the policemen found a large quantity of silverware, the property of Mrs. White.

MEYER, LODGE, AT NOUN RALLY

At the annual Republican ante-election rally, held at noon in Faneuil Hall to-day, which was well attended, four prominent speakers were introduced. George H. Doty, chairman of the State committee, introduced Samuel B. Capen as chairman of the meeting, after which brief speeches were made by Postmaster-General George von L. Meyer, Henry Cabot Lodge, Eben S. Draper and Louis A. Frothingham. The meeting lasted less than one hour and was not marked by any unusual incident other than the regular Republican enthusiasm.

CARDINAL GIBBONS ON WAY HOME

In spite of his long siege out in the cold on the reviewing stand yesterday and the other fatigues of the centennial day, James Cardinal Gibbons arose at 7 a. m. to-day in the rectory of Holy Cross Cathedral, showing not the least weariness or ill effect of yesterday, even though he is well over three score and ten.

After celebrating mass in the private chapel, the Cardinal prepared to start back to Baltimore. He left the Cathedral rectory with the Rev. M. J. Splaine in time to connect with the 10 a. m. express to New York at the Back Bay Station.

At the station the Cardinal was met by Archbishop William H. O'Connell and by the Rev. Philip O'Donnell, rector of St. Phillip's Church on Harrison avenue.

Father O'Donnell is a personal friend of Cardinal Gibbons, and attended him here from Baltimore for this centennial celebration. He accompanies him back to Baltimore as further courtesy to his distinguished superior.

There were warm greetings between the Cardinal and the Archbishop and the others at the Back Bay Station. The Cardinal was smiling, and from the bright and cheerful expression on his venerable features, it was plain that he had enjoyed his sojurn in Boston, and was gratified at the ecclesiastical demonstration here.

Archbishop O'Connell made this statement to-day to a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN:

"The whole celebration was gratifying to me beyond words. It was carried out with a dignity befitting its purpose and marks an epoch in the history of the church and city. Hundreds of prominent citizens, not Catholics, have remarked the profound impression for good it has made on them. The celebration, including the great parade of the Holy Name Society, will have a powerful effect for good on the entire community."

GUILD BACK IN STATE HOUSE

Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., who has been ill with gastritis since Thursday, went to the State House to-day. He spent two hours at the executive office. He was forbidden by his physician, however, to attend the open-air dedication of the monument to the late Mayor Patrick A. Collins.

FROM HOSPITAL TO JAIL.

Robert Mooney, nineteen, of No. 145 Murdock street, Somerville, is in the Court square station nursing a broken collar bone and facing a charge of drunkenness. He fell down the stairs at an Atlantic avenue L station and was removed to the Relief Hospital and later taken to the station house.

Robert J. McCartney, who was the New England president of the iron-molders when Eben S. Draper broke his pledge to the molders and ordered his employes to withdraw from the union, says:

Every workingman who wishes to make his protest against Eben S. Draper most effective will vote for William N. Osgood, the candidate of the Independence League, for Governor.

HISGEN ENDS HARD CAMPAIGN AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 2.—To-night, following an all-day speaking tour in the Connecticut Valley, and bringing to a close a speaking campaign that has been country wide in its scope, Thomas L. Hisgen, Independence party nominee for President of the United States will be welcomed home.

Arriving early in the evening Mr. Hisgen will be tendered a reception and will afterward address a rally in the Court Square Theatre. The theatre seats 2,500 and an overflow audience is already assured. Requests for seats have come from all over the State and from points in Connecticut.

Among the speakers at the Court Square Theatre, in addition to Mr. Hisgen, will be William N. Osgood, Robert J. McCartney, Rev. Roland D. Sawyer and Ex-Congressman M. W. Howard. The rally will be presided over by Richard J. Talbot, candidate for Attorney-General.

Mr. Hisgen is a member of the German Turn Verein and requests have been received for seats from members of that body.

Members of the Commercial Travelers' Association, of which Mr. Hisgen is a member, will also be present to cheer him at the closing hour of the campaign.

Members of the Hampden Traffic Association to which Mr. Hisgen belongs, will also attend, and he has some loyal supporters among that body.

Neighbors and friends from the candidate's home town of West Springfield will attend the rally in force.

All through the Western end of the State there is the same loyal devotion to the first nominee for the Presidency that Western Massachusetts has ever had.

THRONG VISITS "CHINA HALL"

Hundreds of patrons to-day visited the new china and glassware store at No. 17 and 19 Summer street, which opened to the public this morning at 8:30 o'clock. "China Hall" is the designation of the new emporium, and it occupies the seven floors of the entire building. The store will sell exclusively china and glassware of all kinds, both foreign and domestic and from the very opening to-day a busy stream of purchasers poured into the building.

It was a most auspicious opening and the first day's sales exceeded the hopes of the most optimistic in charge. A large corps of saleswomen attended most carefully to the desires of all.

PENSIONS FOR WAGE WORKERS

Brockton Bank Begins Plans to Give Pensions and Annuities to Workingmen.

The People's Savings Bank of Brockton, Mass., of which Ex-Governor William L. Douglas, the shoe manufacturer, is president, opened its life insurance and old age annuity department on Monday, November 2, 1908.

The recent Massachusetts law permits savings banks to issue life insurance up to $500 and annuities up to $200 a year, the design being to enable workingmen to supply themselves with old age annuities and life insurance at the lowest possible cost. The banks are not to employ any solicitors or collectors, but will appoint a large number of agencies throughout the State where applications may be made and premiums paid.

It is expected that this law will in the near future prove to be as beneficial as the law creating the State Board of Arbitration, which Mr. Douglas as Senator twenty-two years ago championed, and under which his immense factories at Brockton have since been operated. Ex-Governor Douglas, who himself provided the large guaranty fund required for the establishment of the insurance department of the bank, was unable to be present at the opening, and sent to the trustees a letter as follows:

"To the Trustees of the People's Savings Bank of Brockton:

The system of savings bank insurance and old age annuities has been made possible by the cooperation of progressive manufacturers and other public-spirited citizens with the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor and hundreds of labor unions.

Collier's Weekly, in a recent issue, said: 'No movement in America has greater actual value than the Massachusetts experiment in savings bank insurance.' It was with a like conviction of the vast importance of this movement that I joned with organized labor and others in an effort to secure the necessary legislation, and was desirous that our bank might be the first to pledge itself to establish an Insurance and Annuity Department. This movement will prove of national significance. It aims to complete the independence of the American wage-earner by securing him, besides cheaper life insurance, an adequate provision for his old age. Every industrious wage-earner is entitled to look forward to an old age of financial independence, just as much as the business man or the professional man. The cost of making such a provision is a part of the daily cost of living, as much as rent, food or clothing. No wage is a 'living wage' which does not permit the workingman to make this necessary provision for the future, and any workingman who having wages sufficient fails to make this provision, is not supporting himself, but is shifting a part of the burden to his family or to the community.

With wages properly high, the Massachusetts wage-earner has now the ability to supply himself with an old-age annuity as well as with the life insurance, because he can get both at the lowest cost at which it is possible to furnish them, and I believe he will avail himself of the opportunity."

Ex-Governor Douglas is the president of the league formed about two years ago to secure the passage of the necessary legislation and the extension of the system throughout the State, and his bank was the first to vote to avail itself of the authority granted by the new law.

ACCUSED OF OHIO BURGLARY

Charged with breaking and entering the office of the Adams Express Company at Norwood, O., on October 20, Alexander Duff, twenty-three, and his brother, Sidney, eighteen, of No. 479 Columbia street, Somerville, are under arrest and held by the Boston police.

In addition to the charge of breaking and entering they are also charged with the larceny of $182 and two revolvers at the same time.

The offence was committed while the Duff boys and two other companions were in Norwood in search of work. The two companions were caught a short time after, and it is alleged that on the information they furnished the police the Duff boys were arrested. Alexander has served one term in Concord Reformatory.

AFTER BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

The famous Blue Store bowling team of Roxbury, which made second place in the Retail Furniture Bowling League last season, is going after the league championship this season.

Edward Barnett, who has been captain of the team for two seasons, says the Blue Store team will be top number at the close of this season or he will know why.

The Retail Furniture Bowling League has other fast teams, however, and accurate and steady bowling will be required to land the championship.

To Both Democrats and Republicans

I started as a boy in the Court House and for 20 years have worked through the various departments to the position of Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court, which I now hold.

Two years ago I became Assistant Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court under John Noble. Whether I was a Republican or a Democrat never came into the question of my promotion.

When Mr. Noble resigned, the judges of the Supreme Judicial Court, because of my experience with the duties of the office, appointed me to take Mr. Noble's position. Again there was no question of politics. It was a question of ability.

Although the judges of the Court realized that an experienced man must occupy this position to carry out the best working of their court;

Although 1800 lawyers, both Democrats and Republicans, practising in Boston (see list published in Saturday's, Oct. 31st, newspapers), realizing that an experienced man is necessary to get quick and thorough action, endorse my election;

Today my remaining in my present position has been made a question of politics.

No man knows at what time he may have to appear before the courts seeking justice,—protection,—or clemency,—and at that time party politics are farthest from his thoughts.

At that time every man wants an experienced man to look after his interests—not a machine politician.

Remember this when voting at the election tomorrow.

WALTER F. FREDERICK,

30 Puritan Avenue, Dorchester, Mass.

The Present Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court.

My Name Is the Last Name on the Ballot. Be Sure to Mark It.

FOR CONGRESS

Re-Elect

ANDREW J. PETERS

He is indorsed by Messrs. Henry L. Higginson, Richard Olney, Charles S. Hamlin, Lorin F. Deland, William A. Gaston, J. H. O'Neil, James J. Storrow, Moorfield Storey, Henry V. Cunningham, F. L. Higginson, Louis D. Brandeis, R. Clipston Sturgis, Arthur Lyman, Dr. Morton Prince, Joseph Lee, William C. Endicott, George R. Upham, Francis L. Coolidge, George W. Anderson, George C. Dickson, Ezra R. Thayer, Patrick N. Keating and many other leading citizens, and the press, irrespective of party.

(Transcript Editorial Oct. 26, 1908.)

The interests of the district and the good name of the State demand the return of Mr. Peters. He carried into Congress the same high standards of public duty that he had followed while a member of the State Legislature. He is the kind of man that has given Massachusetts political distinction in the past. He understands the measure of his duty to be, not the representation of the people of a part of his district, but of all his district, and Boston and Massachusetts as well. Within the past two years Mr. Peters has grown in legislative ability and broadened in public estimation. There should be no question of the result, and we do not believe that there is.

(Herald Editorial Oct. 29, 1908.)

Experience in the committee room and on the floor of the House has added to his other qualifications which were given such handsome recognition two years ago. Consideration of the interests of the district as it will be served by a representative who has already gained initial recognition at Washington justifies his election, regardless of the appeal of partisan interests.

THE GIRL WITH A HUNDRED SELVES

The confessions of an unknown girl writer, in which she lays bare her inmost secrets

BY ? ? ? ? ? ?

"Do you suppose he'll have the wish to plead an engagement at the club?"

"Washing dishes? I simply adore it! I love the feel of warm water and fluffy soap suds"

Nell Brinkley's illustration of a story she did not write, "The Girl with a Hundred Selves," having been written by a girl who has kept her identity secret

The Domestic Self

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner.

IT seems almost unbelievable that a strangely dowered, rebellious creature such as I should possibly be possessed of a Domestic Self. It is the very irony of fate that I, who have sworn to a career, I, with my ardent Ambitious Self, my magnificent Warrior Self, and the contemptuous Man Self of me that sneers at feminine occupations, should be gifted with a very passion for domestic attainments.

Yet it is so. Why? I ask myself a hundred times a day.

Here I am, single, homeless, resigned to a boarding-house existence for the sake of my ambition, and consequently free from household duties. Yet no woman lives who could revel in the work of a home as I would revel in it. No woman in the world could make of housekeeping a more finished and beautiful art than I would make it.

How I wish the thousands of women who are compelled to do such work, and who do it under protest, could feel the keen, delicious joy in it that I have felt. Words are weak to describe the happiness I have derived from the mere accomplishment of homely household tasks.

Boundless Delight in Housework

The powers that lavished upon me such abundant enthusiasm, such fire of purpose, such wealth of imagination and wonderful capacity to feel, gifted me also with boundless delight in any sort of performance connected with the home.

Mine is the sort of domestic ardor that rejoices in attacking a terribly disordered room or a disarranged pantry, and streaking through the work in an ecstasy of activity till everything is in glorious order.

There is to me a powerful fascination in the mere effort to bring order out of chaos. The attempt itself arouses in me a keen delight, a sharp eagerness that is the very essence of joy.

There is to me, also, a very great charm in striving to make things spick and span and sweet. I love the feel of warm water and fluffy soapsuds. Washing dishes? I simply adore it. No, this isn't gush or exaggeration or nonsense. It's just truth. I positively revel in washing dishes.

There is real inspiration for me in standing by a well scoured table, with china, glass and silver piled up in neat array, and a shining dishpan before me filled with hot lather that sings and bubbles while I work.

Dishwashing a Triumph of Art

I take genuine delight in plunging each article into the steaming, rainbow-tinted foam, then putting it into the draining pan or rack, covering well with scalding water, catching up a clean, dry towel and finishing all with a final beautiful polish. The whole proceeding to me is the very triumph of art.

There is something about manual labor, or any physical exercise done with the whole heart and soul, that can stimulate a human being as nothing else can. Mind and soul and body working in hearty unison—that is the secret of happy living. Household activity wakens my brain, fires my imagination, rouses my ambition, indeed, kindles my whole being into new and vigorous life.

I have known times when, in the midst of scrubbing a floor, I have felt joy surging through me in such an exquisite tide that I had to burst forth into singing with all my might. I had the feeling I imagine a feathered songster has when music gushes in a torrent from its ecstatic throat.

It is utterly impossible for me to comprehend the bitterness and hatred some women feel toward domestic work. If a woman is overtaxed, or too frail to work, I can well understand how her body would drag and suffer, how piteously her nerves and muscles would protest.

Then, too, when a woman cannot afford the implements or the conveniences that lighten labor, no one could blame her for failing to enjoy it. But when there are no such handicaps, I fail to see why she should not get thrilling happiness out of caring for her home. It is all a matter of love.

Poetry in Caring for a Home

One thing is certain. If the time ever comes that I am called upon to be a housekeeper, I shall plunge into my vocation with all the energy and ambition I possess. I shall pour into housework all the talent, the brain, the charm, the imagination, the passion that nature has lavished upon me. Never, never shall I whine through it or slight it or make drudgery of it! I shall make it poetry and science and music and exquisite art, or I'll not do it at all.

In the first place, the kitchen where I work shall be a place of beauty and delight, not a dingy corner where every appointment speaks of drudgery or indifference or hatred. No one ever had a kitchen so clean, so fragrant, so completely inviting as that dear little laboratory where I shall cook meals for my One Man.

Those meals! They shall be the most toothsome, delicious and nourishing ever served to a hungry, home-returning husband. I love to think about and plan them, for they, above all things, shall show the triumph of my love and skill and knowledge.

Oh, I'm not so ethereal that I do not recognize the body's needs, and one of those needs is most emphatically food—wholesome, appetizing, well cooked food that actually accomplishes the purpose for which it was designed.

Husbands Entitled to Good Food

Never have I been able to fathom why so many wives denounce the husband who complains when his meals are not inviting. Why shouldn't he complain? I have so long been the victim of boarding house concoctions that I heartily sympathize with any man who growls over a repast that doesn't suit him.

I know just exactly what that empty, gnawing irritable feeling is that follows a baffling breakfast, or a dinner that hasn't made good. Cooking is the highest sort of science and I, for one, shall be proud that I am able to prepare the food that nourishes and sustains the man I love.

In the second place, I don't intend to look like a hag or a witch with a broomstick, just because I am the keeper of a home. Beauty shall prevail in this as in all else. I intend to look as dainty and attractive in the kitchen as I would at a dance or reception.

Oh, don't say it can't be done! It can. Will any one tell me why a woman can't wash dishes and clean house just as well in a chic becoming working dress as she can in a hideous, mud-colored creation that makes her look like a shape of Satan?

Will He Go to His Club? Not So

As for me, I don't intend to wear shoes that are down at heel or aprons that are a nightmare. When my husband comes home from the office, tired, bored, hungry and eager for rest and love and cheer, he'll find me in a dainty, fetching little frock that doesn't hint of kitchen toil; a sheer, snowy apron of butterfly pattern, and with just the wickedest of coquettish bows in my hair. And my nose won't be shining, either!

All this for a husband? Indeed, yes; and yes again. That's just the secret. There won't be anything too good, or clever, or sweet, or satisfying, or beautiful for my One Man.

And when dinner's over, and we sit reading under the mellow drop light, do you suppose he'll have the wish to plead an engagement at the club, or a terribly important business deal in town?

And this is the picture my Domestic Self shows me when my Ambitious Self is quiet for an hour, and all my other clamoring selves are stilled. I wonder, I wonder which self of all my hundred selves shall conquer me at last?

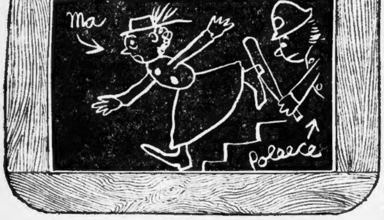
Ma Tries Being a Suffragette, and Pa Laughs a Lot

By WILLIAM F. KIRK



This picter is my Ma wen she was trying to be a suf-raget

THE picture on my slait today is Ma trying to be a suf-fraget. She tried pretty hard but she didn't try as hard as the poleece.

Ma was reading in the paper about Miss Trixie Friganza wich was a suffraget on the steps in front of the city hall, she sed to Pa, If Missus Friganza can do that down at the City Hall, why not I? Why not, indeed? sed Pa.

Ma was going to go down to the city hall at first (1) but she finally sed she mite as well speek on the steps of the poleece stashun on Washington Hites. So Ma went up thare with two (2) of her lady friends, & all three (3) of them started to speek.

Pa & me went along to heer Ma speek. Pa sed he herd Ma speek a lot anyway, but he went with me.

Wen we got up to the steps of the poleece stashun Ma got up on the steps & she beegan to talk. Friends & Sister Republicans, sed Ma, I cum beefoar you tonite beekaus I cannot cum behind you. I am heer, Ma sed, to ex-pound to you all them immortal truths wich is laid down in the works of Missus Bertha Clay, Ma sed, showing that all wimming is born free & equal.

My frends, sed Ma, beefour long we will be having a eleckshun. At that time, & in that grate hour, how shall we voat, if at all? How shall we voat, my sisters, & for whom she we voat?

You shall voat for Sweeney, sed a man in the crowd. Pipe the skirt, a other man sed. Heer the fee-male frothing at the mouth, sed a other man.

Ma a Modern Jone of Ark

"You must heer me out, sed Ma. You shall heer me out. I stand heer tonite, Ma sed, to raise my voice for liberty & equality. In me & in my brave sisters heer wich caim out with me, you behold a modern Jone of Ark, wich wishes to help to stamp out all them evils in our land, & maik wimming supreme in the councils of the mitey.

Wimming, sed Ma, has been instrumental in moast of the grate things wich has been accomplished since the beginning of the wurld. Who was it that droav Adam out of Eden, when he got too gay? sed Ma. It was Eve, sed the other suf-fragets.

Who was it that put Mister Thaw in jail? sed Ma. It was Missus Thaw, sed the suf-fragets. Yes, my friends, sed Ma, you cannot naim me a singel woman wich has been in publick life wich ever did a wrong thing.

How about Missus Chadwick? sed a man in the crowd. But she wasent a singel woman, sed Ma.

Oh, my frends, sed Ma, if you cud only [illegible]ow how much purer the ballot wud be [illegible]th wimming as voters, you wud let us [illegible]at. If you cud only realize that the [illegible]nd wich rocks the cradel is the hand [illegible]ch shud eleck our president, then every[illegible]ing wud be as it shud be, sed Ma.

But if the hand wich rocks the cradel [illegible]ud eleck a other president like the one [illegible] have now, sed a man in the crowd, thare wud be a lot of moar cradels to rock.

I do not wish to be interrupted, sed Ma. I will now interduce a sister suf-fraget, Missus Emma Eidelweiss, a nabor of mine, wich will tell you, in a few well chosen words, why we shud have as much rite to voat as the men.

Emma Eidelweiss Speaks, Yet

I cum beefoar you, sed Missus Emma Eidelweiss, as a good German American lady, and I am proud that I am a lady. Was your mother a lady? sed a man in the crowd. Did she know you was going to be a lady? sed a other man.

I am not heer to argue with loafers, yet, sed Missus Eidelweiss. Ever since I have came on Washington Hites, already, I have respeck had. I think you are cheap skates, yet.

Hear, Hear, sed a man. Cum on, you Emma Eidelweiss, sed a other man. Heer cums the cops, sed a other man.

Then the poleece came out of the stashun, thay had been sleeping & thay diddent know that Ma & the other suffra-gers was there until thay heard the crowd yelling. Then thay chased Ma & her two (2) frends off the steps of the stashun, & Ma caim home with Pa & me.

Alow me, sed Pa, in this, the hour of your triumf, to extend to you the right hand of fellowship & congratu-lashun, after the grate speech wich you maid tonite. I feel vary much uplifted by it, Pa sed. Did the poleece uplift you wen thay kicked you & your frends off the steps?

Ma Calls Pa Sum Bad Naims

You coward, sed Ma. How dare you sneer at me in the hour of my dissapointment. You cur, Ma sed.

I may be a cur, sed Pa, & little Bobbie may be a pup, but you & your lady frends severely handed Bobbie & me sum fine laffs wen you was up on them steps making fools of yourself. Dident thay, Bobbie?

One of them in particular, sed Pa, made a grate hit with me. Wich was that old hen with the Merry Widow hat wich was out of date last April. I am so sorry that the poleece kicked you off the steps beefoar she got a chanst for to say anything. She was all to the joke, sed Pa. She had a face like a dab of mashed potatos, sed Pa. Oh, you suffra-gets! sed Pa.

Ma was awful mad at Pa, but every time she started to scold Pa he laffed so hard that she didn't get a chanst. Pa kep on laffing till we got to the flat.

You cur, sed Ma, I suppose you ain't even going to say goodnite to me. Sure I will say goodnite, sed Pa. Goodnite, you suffra-get.

LOVE'S PARADOX

How to Tell Whether a Man Is in Love

Some Signs Are Almost Conclusive, but Nothing Is Certain Till He Sets the Day

By DOROTHY DIX

DOROTHY DIX.

A YOUNG woman writes, asking me if there are any sure signs by which a girl may tell if a man is in love with her.

According to the old song, "Men were deceivers ever," and there is nothing more difficult than to tell when a man is really in love for keeps, and when he is merely amusing himself by playing at love.

Still there are certain indications that, while not infallible tests, are good tips as to the state of the barometer of a man's affection.

Of course, the first thing to be taken into consideration is the regularity with which a man calls. A mere casual visit now and then means nothing. Too much stress, however, must not be put upon the fact that he comes two or three times a week.

This may be merely the force of habit, or because he has nowhere else to go, or because your mother had sense enough to buy comfortable chairs and is a good cook.

Still, a man becomes a regular beau at his peril, and if, in addition, he develops the Sunday night habit, it looks serious and like business. If he becomes morose and looks injured every time anybody else drops in, you have a right to regard it as at least a premonitory symptom of the tender passion. A man never becomes monopolistic of a woman's society until he begins to regard her as permanently his.

Straws Show How Wind Blows

The next straw which shows which way the wind of love blows is when a man begins to lecture you about your clothes and what you eat. Until a man notices that you have on thin slippers of a damp night, and that you are not buttoned up warmly around the throat, and begins to fuss about what you eat, there's "nothing doing," so far as he is concerned, in the wedding bells line.

Build no hope on the beau who feeds you on chocolate creams, and lets you mingle ice cream and lobster salad after the play, and who compliments you on how well you look of a cold night in a lace blouse.

He never expects to have to pay your doctor's bills, and doesn't care whether you acquire bronchitis and dyspepsia.

On the contrary, prepare to be surprised and say "This is so sudden," when a man develops a tendency to lecture you about not wearing sensible clothes and insists upon you eating roast beef and potatoes.

A third sign of awakening love is when a man begins to talk to you about his business. This shows that he is commencing to regard you as a silent partner in it. Girls don't know it, but there is more doing when a man talks to them about the price of salt codfish, or the state of the stock market, than there is in all the love poetry ever written.

As long as a man's sentiments are up in the air he talks about the last party, the new play and Shakespeare and the musical glasses, but when he is genuinely hard hit he gets down to the subject next to his heart, and that is the work that makes it possible for him to indulge in the luxury of a wife.

Another Promising Indication

The fourth indication of love is when a man begins presenting you with cook books and moral essays on family life, instead of the last six best sellers. This shows that he expects to have to stand for your housekeeping and temper.

As long as a man is merely amusing himself with a girl, the more airy and frivolous she is, the more extravagantly she dresses and the gayer her conduct, the better he likes her. The minute, however, he begins to see her in the exalted position of his wife he wants her to be serious, and intense, and domestic.

Hence, put no faith in the youth who keeps you supplied with light literature and candy, and who looks amused and not shocked when you say that you hate to darn stockings and the sight of the kitchen gives you heart failure.

Bless you, it's nothing to him whether you poison your husband or not. But when a man seeks to know your views about domesticity, you have a right to regard it as a leading question, and so answer it with discretion. An alleged passionate devotion to the kitchen range has given many a girl a good husband.

Still another indication that a man is growing serious is when he begins to describe to a girl the matrimonial felicity of his friends who are living in small apartments.

As long as Romeo discourses vaguely about the automobiles and tiaras and country houses he would like to give his wife when he marries, he is conversing through his hat, but when he begins to dilate on domestic bliss at $20 per, and to ascertain her opinion on that proposition, he has arrived at the popping-the-question point, and only needs a helping hand to the altar.

The Last and Absolute Test

A final test that a man is genuinely in love is when he begins to try to conciliate a girl's family. When John listens with an absorbed expression to how Father fought the battle of Gettysburg alone and single-handed; when he sympathizes with Mamma over the servant question and hunts up a new breed of pug dog for Aunt Jane, it is up to the girl to make up her mind whether she is going to say "Yes" or "No." Love's proofs can go no farther.

It must not be forgotten, though, that in love, as in almanac prophecies, all signs fail in dry weather; and, no matter how many indications a man gives of devotion, the wise maiden builds no hopes upon them until he boldly asks her to be his.

And even then she waits until he sets the day.

When Lovers Disagree

The Spinster-Lady as a Mender of Broken Hearts

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"DEAR Spinster-Lady, I have a 'mood' on—a desperate one. Will you come for a walk with me?"

The Spinster-Lady looked at the doleful little figure and stretched out a comforting hand.

"Of course, I will, dear. Just wait until I get this note off," she said.

The day was very dreary, and for blocks the two walked in that complete silence which can only come with absolute friendship.

The girl knew that she could rely on the sympathy of her friend, and the Spinster-Lady knew that when the time came the girl would tell her what the trouble was. Finally, Polly broke the silence.

"It's all off between Jack and me," she said, in a voice that trembled in spite of her brave effort to steady it.

"Why, Polly, my dear, I am very sorry to hear that. What is the trouble?"

"We quarrelled over my girls' club. He wants me to give it up."

"What reason does he give?"

The Reasons for the Quarrel

"Well," said Polly, slowly, "his reason is good enough, in a way, but I don't think he has the right to demand that I should give up any of my pleasures, and I look on the club meetings as a duty as well as a pleasure.

"He says that, as he has to work four evenings out of the seven, he thinks I should keep the remaining three free from all engagements."

"And what do you say?"

"I say that on one of those evenings my class in literature meets at the club, and it is my duty to stand by the class."

"Which only leaves two evenings for Jack?"

"Yes; I'm sorry, but I don't see what I can do."

"Well, my dear, I do. I think your duty is as plain as a pike staff."

"Do you? Where do you think it lies?"

"With Jack, of course."

"And disappoint those girls?"

"Polly, I suppose you love Jack or you would not have promised to marry him. He is working hard to earn enough money to provide a home for you, and his one relaxation is the pleasure of seeing you. He has but three evenings a week, and yet you are willing to deprive him of one of them. I call that pretty selfish, Polly."

"But, dear Spinster-Lady, you don't understand. It is not of myself I am thinking, but of the girls. They would miss the class so much, and it would not be easy to change the night of meeting."

The Duty That Comes First

"Listen to me, Polly! Clubs are all very well, when they don't interfere with home duties. Your duty to your home and your dear ones comes first. If you love the club better than you do Jack, give him up; but it is not fair to him to place him second in your thoughts."

"I do love Jack, and I can't give him up." Then, with a quick-drawn breath: "But perhaps he won't want me back, now that we have quarrelled. He seemed terribly hurt when he left last night."

"When is the next meeting of your class?"

"To-night; and I told him last night that I would not give it up."

"Let me see," said the Spinster Lady, looking at her watch. "You have just time to catch him by telephone before he leaves the office, and to tell him that you will expect him this evening."

"But"—

"We have no time for 'buts,' Polly. Here is a telephone pay station."

Five minutes later, with scarlet cheeks and shining eyes, Polly emerged from the little booth. "He says he'll be there," she cried happily. "Oh, dear Spinster-Lady, I am so happy!"

"And the club?" said that lady, with a teasing little laugh.

"Oh, I don't care anything about the club. I only care that Jack is coming, and that he said——"

"Well, what did he say?"

"Oh, a great many very nice things!"

Advice About Etiquette and Social Usages

By MARY HUTTON PELL

DEAR MISS PELL:

Will you kindly tell me which it is proper to have engraved on table silver to be presented to a bride-to-be—the monogram of her maiden name or of her married?

M. M. K.

IN this country it is the maiden initials of the bride that are engraved upon all her wedding silver. Anything acquired after marriage receives her married initials.

DEAR MISS PELL:

Would you kindly let me know which is the correct way of dancing popular dances—on the ball of the foot, or on the flat foot. I have always noticed that professional dancers dance on the flat foot.

I. T.

MOST of the formal dances are performed on the ball of the foot; the scraping of the high heel worn on a dancing slipper would make a "flat foot" style of dancing objectionable. Professional dancers use "ghosts"—a heelless satin slipper—and so dance with the entire foot.

The Bank Clerk's Puzzle

Can You Help the Postmaster Out of a Muddle?

A YOUNG bank clerk from across the street handed the postmaster a mental knockout the other day, when he threw down a bill, saying:

"Give me some one-cent stamps, three-quarters as many twos as ones, three-quarters as many fives as twos, and five eight-cent stamps for the balance of the money."

While the postmaster is coming out of his trance, can you tell the denomination of the young man's bill?

One hundred prize puzzle books will be distributed among those who send best answers to "Puzzle Editor," in care of this paper.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NO ACTUAL RIGHT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-three years of age and keep company with a young lady of twenty-two. I am out of work for the past six months, and it is only since then I've been acquainted with the girl, and as she seeks all kinds of amusements, it makes it hard for me. She knows I am out of work, so goes out with other young men for her enjoyment. Of course, I don't mean to say that I can't take her to any place of amusement, but the position I'm in at present won't allow me to do as much as I would like to. The other evening we had a party at our home. This young lady friend of mine came with another young man, and of course he took her home. Now, do you think she is doing right by encouraging the attentions of others, or do you think I am to expect as much, seeing that I am out of work? I love this girl very much and she told me that she likes me, but did not say if she loves me.

JIM.

YOU cannot expect the girl to refrain entirely from going out, merely because you cannot afford to take her. If you were engaged it would be quite another matter, but until your prospects are brighter you have no right to tie her down in any way. If she came to the party with the young man it was quite proper that she should go home with him. Try hard to get work and then you will be able to take her out yourself.

IDENTIFIED AS BOND THIEF

A. B. Turner, a Boston broker, who went to Chicago Saturday to see if he could identify a prisoner there as the man charged with securing $30,000 worth of bonds from him by means of a fraudulent check, to which the name "B. F. Parker" had been signed, made a positive identification of the prisoner to-day, according to dispatches from Chicago.

Turner picked his man out of 150 others lined up around him at the Cook County jail. The man had given the name of E. B. Devine. The Boston police will move to have him brought to this State. The Chicago police also want him on other stock swindling charges.

FOUND DEAD IN CELL.

John McLaughlin, thirty-seven years old, was found dead in a cell in Station 5, Cambridge, this morning. McLaughlin, whose home is at No. 114 Beacon street, Somerville, had been arrested by Patrolman McCabe, suffering from the effects of liquor. He was treated by a physician at the station during the day and appeared to be recovering.

CONTINUES HER COURT BATTLE FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Minnie B. Wright Also Brings Suit for $10,000 Heart Balm.

"I will continue the fight until I get the custody of my two children. I know I will win in the end, for my cause is a just one."

This statement was made to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter by Mrs. Minnie B. Wright, of No. 46 Dartmouth street, who has asked that her fifteen-year-old boy Leon and twelve-year-old girl Leola be returned to her. They are now in the temporary custody of their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wright, in East Randolph, Vt. Mrs. Wright, through her counsel, Roger D. Swain, has requested Judge William F. Dana to reopen the hearing at which he denied the petition of the mother for her children.

Wants $10,000 Balm.

Mrs. Minnie Wright, mother of the children, has also filed a suit for an alienation of affection against Luella (Jordan) Wright whom she named in her suit for divorce which she secured in May, 1903. The case was not contested. Her husband and Luella Jordan, who was named in the suit were married after the divorce was granted. They now live at No. 156 Mason Terrace, Brookline. Mr. Wright is a Boston broker.

Now Mrs. Wright No. 1 is suing Mrs. Wright No. 2, charging her with breaking up her home and stealing her husband's affections. She asks for $10,000. This case is on the list to be tried soon.

"Luella Jordan has since married my husband. I cannot go to East Randolph; I cannot have my children at the hotel to dine with me," said Mrs. Wright. "They forced me to go into my parents-in-law's house to see my own children, despite the fact that the woman who came into my home is allowed to go driving alone with my children whenever she goes up there to visit."

Given Custody of Children.

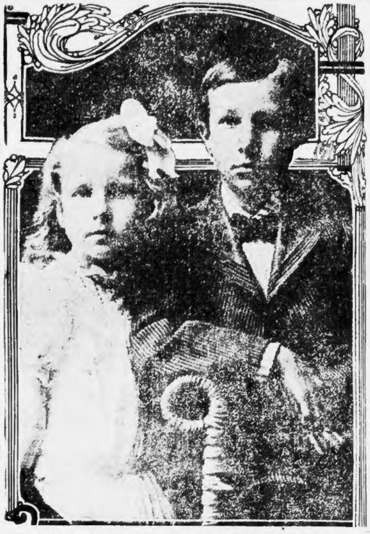
"When I secured a divorce from my husband in May, 1903, naming Luella Jordan, I was given the custody of the children. The children lived with me for two years. In the Spring of 1905 my boy Leon became very ill. For several weeks his life was despaired of by the physicians. I stayed up day and night with him and as a result became run down myself.

"While Leon was at the verge of death I sent for his father to come to see him, but he refused to come. We were living on Adams street, Waltham, at that time. When Leon began to recover I broke down under the strain, and as their paternal grandparents, who were on good terms with me, asked that the children be sent to their home on a vacation I thought it would be a good idea. I was confined in a sanitorium for several months because of my breakdown. I sent the children to their grandparents in Vermont.

"I have a good home for the children to come to and I want them with me."

FIGHTS TO REGAIN CHILDREN.

Leon Wright, 15, and Leola, 12, for whom their mother, Mrs. Minnie B. Wright, is appealing to the courts.



OSGOOD GAVE LEGAL SERVICE TO UNION LABOR

Fought Spinners' Battle Before Commission With No Compensation.

LOWELL, Nov. 2.—Because years before he ever had any idea of becoming a candidate for any political office William N. Osgood was a consistent friend of organized labor, and represented the strong Mule Spinners' Union of Lowell, without recompense, in a long and arduous legislative investigation, Joseph P. Ashton, secretary and treasurer of that organization, to-day issued a strong appeal to all union men throughout Massachusetts to support Mr. Osgood for Governor.

Mr. Ashton declared that Mr. Osgood had shown himself a sturdy and effective friend of union labor for at least ten years, to his own actual knowledge, and that Osgood fought an effective battle for the Mule Spinners' Union as counsel when the great strike of cotton operatives threatened Lowell in 1903. He was asked to submit a bill for these services, but declined absolutely to do so.

His Service Invaluable.

"Before the Legislative Commission," said Mr. Ashton to-day, "Mr. Osgood performed invaluable services in our behalf. It was a particularly arduous work, one that required much research and hard and constant labor. Mr. Osgood went deeply into the matter, with his whole heart and soul, and he told us that he was so much interested in it that he would not charge us a cent. He has never sent us a bill."

Mr. Ashton is one of the most prominent labor authorities in this city, and his statement was eagerly read by union men. Here is what he said about the Independence League candidate for Governor:

"All voters who have the true interests of labor at heart should pledge themselves for William N. Osgood.

Urges Osgood's Election.

"Mr. Osgood, for the past ten years, has consistently shown that he is the friend of unionism.

"In 1903, when the great strike of the cotton operatives threatened Lowell, he was engaged as counsel for the laboring people, together with another attorney. Both appeared at a hearing authorized by the Massachusetts Legislature to investigate conditions. The hearing was long drawn out and involved a great deal of work.

"Mr. Osgood proved himself a very effective fighter, but he charged nothing for his services. The other lawyer entered a substantial bill and it was promptly paid.

"This is one of the many instances that I might cite as indicating the attitude of Mr. Osgood toward the cause of labor.

"I strongly urge all voters of Massachusetts who are honestly working for labor's interests to vote for William N. Osgood for Governor on Tuesday. He is a real friend of labor and has proved it by his acts."

RIVAL CURBS TRADE STOCKS; LAWSON WINS

Two separate curbs did business to-day, one at the new quarters on Doane street and the other at the old stand on Exchange place. Thomas W. Lawson and seven-eighths of the members of the Boston Curb Association opened up to-day at the new quarters, while the remainder, about twenty-five in number, stuck to the old place. Those who insisted on doing business at the old location were mostly the curb representatives of the houses which are members of the Stock Exchange. These, the members of the majority say, are responsible for all the trouble.

Before the minority opened up on Exchange place they were warned that if they attempted to do business under the name of the Boston Curb Association they would be sued by the Boston Curb and their property attached. The warning was issued in the form of a statement signed by Charles F. Austin, secretary of the Curb.

The statement says that Mr. Lawson, acting for the Curb Association, will bring suit and attach the property of any broker who attempts to do business in Exchange place to-day as a member of the Boston Curb Association.

Robert J. McCartney, who was the New England president of the iron-molders when Eben S. Draper broke his pledge to the molders and ordered his employes to withdraw from the union, says:

Every workingman who wishes to make his protest against Eben S. Draper most effective will vote for William N. Osgood, the candidate of the Independence League, for Governor.

A Few Facts About Hood's Milk

You can practice economy without sacrificing quality in providing for the table by reducing the amount of animal foods and substituting HOOD'S MILK, which furnishes all the nutrition necessary for health and strength at a far less cost.

You will save money by so doing, as

A PERFECT MILK is a PERFECT FOOD

HOOD'S MILK is tested for its palatability by an approved hygienic method. It is also tested daily for wholesomeness and richness in our Chemical and Bacteriological Laboratory.

Its handling is kept under constant surveillance by medical experts. Do not accept a substitute. Insist on getting what you ask for and be sure to ask for HOOD'S MILK. It is PURE, CLEAN and SAFE, and has stood the test of sixty-two years. Criticisms and suggestions will be gratefully received.

The Users of Evaporated Milk

When you come to want Van Camp's Milk, please don't think that other milks are like it. Read these facts—know the truth about it. Then insist on getting just the milk you want.

How Quality is Reduced

It is just a question of evaporation. One-third of the water of raw milk can be taken out by evaporation, or twice as much water can be taken out. The resulting product of both processes will look and taste much alike.

But stop and think of the difference in cost. Realize how it will be when you come to dilute the milk for use.

Is it not perfectly plain why some brands of milk are urged on you by manufacturers as "Just as good as Van Camp's"? Don't take some other brand and think it is like Van Camp's Evaporated Milk.

The Difference

The difference is in the richness, for after purity, richness controls the value of milk.

The manufacturer of some other brand may have told your grocer his brand is as rich as Van Camp's. But is it so?

Just now the United States laws don't protect you and your grocer against weak, Evaporated Milk, because the standard has been relaxed. The law is not enforced. There is much competition and great temptation to reduce the quality so the wholesale prices can be reduced.

Van Camp's Milk has not been reduced in price (your grocer will tell you that) and we positively guarantee you the quality has not and will not be reduced.

Quality is what you must have and we know it is wise to give it to you.

So quality is what you can depend upon in Van Camp's Milk.

Sanitary Milk

But Van Camp's means more than richness, more than economy to you. Our cows are inspected. So are the men who milk them.

Our dairies are sanitary. Cleanliness is carried to extremes. The buildings where our milk is evaporated are built without wood.

When you get Van Camp's, you know that every precaution has been taken against infection. You know nothing of other milks.

Not "Condensed Milk"

Also remember that Van Camp's is not like "condensed milk." All so-called "condensed milks" are half sugar. The sugar is used to preserve them.

Therefore, "condensed milk" is but little more than half milk. And, because of the sugar, you can't use it for cooking.

Van Camp's is nothing but milk. We add no sugar, no starch, no preservative. The preserving is done solely by sterilization.

Van Camp's serves for cooking just as well as for coffee. It serves every purpose of raw milk and cream. And it gives to milk dishes a flavor which you never can get without it.

Those are the facts. Judge for yourself which milk you want. Then insist that you get it.

Get the Milk with this label and you will get it right—

The Indians are coming. Next Saturday they appear in their annual invasion of the Stadium against Harvard in a football game which is the big thing of the year, as there will be no Yale conflict for local followers to gaze on unless they journey to New Haven.

The Indians are the popular choice with everybody and have the biggest reputation of any team wearing the gridiron togs, as they travel from one end of the country to the other during the season securing as many scalps as possible.

Last year they swamped the Crimson and they will be the favorites in this scrap, unless the Harvard team comes up with a jump in form before the end of the week.

Maybe the Harvard coaches have something up their sleeve especially prepared for the Carlisle Indians, but, judging by the Brown clash last Saturday, they will have to put on a tremendous hustle to be in the hunt with the team which beat the Navy, a stunt impossible for the Crimson.

It is almost a dead certainty the Indians will score. They have a new kicker in Balenti, who is a wonder, even surpassing the star Hudson, whose feats of booting the ball over the bar will never be forgotten.

Once within striking distance of the Harvard goal, Balenti is sure to slip the leather between the posts, as his four scores that way at Annapolis is a sample of his skill.

The loss to Harvard of Captain Burr, who will probably not play again this year, is a shock hard to overcome, as he was the mainstay of the team, and his value cannot be replaced.

Harvard will put up a game battle with the Indians. That is a foregone conclusion, as the team has always done it, but the redskins are after big pelts this season, and nothing would suit them better than a Crimson trophy to hang in the wigwam.

The Harvard coaches will do a rushing business this week in getting the men to learn to hang onto the ball, as the Indians will keep it in the air most of the time, and the spectators are sure to get a fine sight of "new" football in all its brilliancy.

On the other hand, Harvard's chief strength will be in forcing the Indians' line by the use of its own heavy line and powerful plunging backs in White, Corbett and Smith, who will probably get into this contest.

YALE PICKS OUT HER MEN FOR THE BIG GAMES

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—For the first time this season it was possible to-day to give the lineup of the Yale eleven in its Princeton and Harvard games, the goal of its season. The coaches have settled upon all except one position, quarterback, and in that Fred Murphy has a good lead over Bingham, although Murphy's recent injury makes it uncertain about his being the final choice.

Yale will scamper on the gridiron at Tigertown two weeks from to-day, barring accidents, in the following makeup:

Captain Burch says that he will be back in the big games, but Trainer John Mack shakes his head, sorrowfully. He fears that Burch will not be in shape for many weeks. Burch's arm is still in a sling, and his broken collarbone is knitting slowly. It seems rather possible that he can play football for at least a month.

Naedele, who has succeeded him at right end, is the meteor of the Yale season. He failed to make even his freshman eleven last year, but has jumped up from the fourth to the varsity eleven and stuck to the job as first string man for a month, shining in the West Point game.

Buster Brown, substitute guard and tackle last year, has been chosen right tackle. He is cousin of Arthur Erwin, who played guard two years ago. He was guard on his freshman eleven two years ago.

Goebel is kept at guard, after being played part of the season at tackle. He is one of the most valuable players on the Yale eleven in every department of play. He was an All-American choice universally last year.

Biddle has been finally set down as regular centre. He was a little shaky on the job till two weeks ago, but a torrent of Yale centre has whipped him into shape since the West Point game.

Andrus and Hobbs, cripples most of the season, have just gotten back into the game and will be again at left guard and left tackle, where they shone on the Yale second team last year. They are old Andover stars. Hobbs two years ago played at Dartmouth.

Kilpatrick is still out of condition, but is slated for left end as soon as he returns. Till then Logan will be played. Kirkpatrick is an end of the Tom Shevlin type, strong as an ox and very fast.

Murphy, who is the favorite for quarterback, was halfback last season. He is also the baseball captain. He is nephew of Mike Murphy, the former Yale trainer, and of Billy Murphy, formerly Yale baseball captain.

Bingham is lighter than Murphy and does not run back punts as well, but he is a good campaigner. Ford Johnson and Allan Corey, the latter the son of the Steel Trust president, are pushing their rivals close and both will finish strong in the competition.

Philbin will be played at left halfback unless his weak back is again injured. He has been on the hospital list much of the season.

The veteran Brides will be found at right halfback. He was behind the line last year, but played on the left side of the wing. Brides is one of the best defensive backs in America.

Coy, who is running the eleven in the absence of Burch, is a star kicker of the strongest kind. He is improving in both his distance and directing in punting.

Carroll Cooney, guard last year, is first substitute for centre, tackle and guard. Bailey is substitute tackle and centre.

DORANDO WILL SAIL SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The arrangements to bring Pietri Dorando, the European hero of the Marathon race held in London last August at the Olympic games, to this country, have been completed, and the Italian will sail on November 7.

In the meantime every effort is being made to induce Johnny Hayes to meet the foreigner in a Marathon race. Without trying to detract from the great performance of the American, it is only keeping within the bounds of truth and fairness to say that there exists and always will exist a doubt in the minds of the public on this side of the water, as well as abroad, as to which of these runners, Hayes or Dorando, is the better man. Hayes pleads his theatrical engagements will prevent him from taking part in a race for some time to come.

Dorando is certainly of the stuff that makes heroes and victors in every walk of life. He is coming here prepared to race the pick of the land—Hayes, Longboat, Schrubb and Hallen.

FIELD CAPTAIN COY OF YALE GETTING READY TO TRY A FIELD GOAL FROM PLACEMENT. QUARTERBACK FRED MURPHY IS HOLDING THE BALL.

YALE RUNNERS WILL MEET HARVARD

In addition to the dual cross-country race scheduled between Yale and Cornell for November 4 at New Haven, the Blue will meet Harvard at Cambridge on November 12. The Yale freshmen also will have a race with Columbia, '12, on November 7 at New Haven. The date for the Yale-Cornell freshmen race appears not to have been settled as yet.

The cross-country squad at Syracuse soon is to be divided up, fifteen men being retained for the first division. From these fifteen the team for the Princeton run will be selected. Syracuse cherishes a feeling that the team is going to be good enough to take the measure of all the other colleges in the intercollegiate race. The Syracuse Daily Orange says: "Princeton is convinced that the men from Chancellor Day's institution know how to play football. Perhaps they will also believe that Syracusans can run a little, after the intercollegiate cross-country race in November."

Also elsewhere: "The green material has now been developed into experienced long distance runners, with the result that the Orange within a year after its entry into the intercollegiate meet will be considered by experts as a possibility for first honors."

B. J. Lemon, captain of the Cornell cross-country team last year, who was appointed to a place in the Cornell faculty early this year, and so lost his eligibility for the track meets of the Spring, is working with the freshman cross-country men at Ithaca. They should get some good training following him. Lemon was thirteenth in the '06 class, but was out of form last Fall because of illness.

WRIGHT IN AUSTRALIA.

BRISBANE, Australia, Nov. 2.—Frederick B. Alexander and Beals C. Wright, the American international lawn tennis team who will compete for the Davis cup at Melbourne, arrived here today. Both are in good health and are sanguine of taking the cup back to the United States. The cup matches will be decided about the middle of November.

Big Fellow Tells the Way to Be Healthful

JEFF LIKES SIMPLE LIFE

BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES.

(Retired and Undefeated Heavyweight Champion of the World.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—Why don't people take better care of their health? This appeals to me as being one of the most serious questions of the day. Sick persons and invalids are constantly casting about for the key to their lost health. They eat only the most careful diet and give the most rigid care to their hours of sleeping, exercise and the hundred and one little details of their daily life.

But the average man in average health gives no thought to the care of his body. He is able to eat whenever and whatever he wishes, and sleeps soundly at night. He imagines that it is always going to be so with him.

Just suppose that the average man was to take the same care of himself that a man does after he has lost his health. Can you see what a healthy nation we would be in a short time? It is such a little price to pay for the grand reward to be reaped, but Mr. Average Man hasn't got the time, or imagines that he hasn't, to devote a little time each day to the care of his health.

Feels Like Shaking Idler.

I don't wish to pose as a lecturer on this subject. Neither do I wish to be looked upon as a crank in the matter. However, I am a firm believer in man taking care of himself in time of health instead of waiting until he is broken down before undertaking to assist old Mother Nature. I honestly feel like shaking a man when I see him going down day by day, falling into a rut of idleness and neglecting the care of his health.

Just imagine what a man may do for himself by indulging in an hour's work so that he may eat this and he may eat that, laying restrictions upon him that generally deprives him of the food he likes most. Eat what your appetite calls for, but eat in moderation; don't be a human hog. Don't take dinner one day at 6 o'clock and the next evening at 8. Eat by the clock, and don't break your rule for anybody or anything.

Next in importance to regular eating is regular sleeping. Have your regular hours for retiring and don't stay up a minute later. There is more truth than poetry in the old saying that an hour's sleep before midnight is worth two hours after midnight.

Sleep in Ventilated Room.

Sleep in a well ventilated room. I remember one of the most miserable nights I ever put in in my life was when I was visiting with a friend in New York State. We were out in a little country home or lodge, which had but one sleeping room. When it came time to retire I found that my host had both windows locked down tight and when we went to bed he closed the door.

I stood the situation for about ten minutes, and then I let out a roar. When I explained to my friend that I had been used to sleeping with all windows open he nearly had a fit, and declared that he would die before morning if he was to sleep between two open windows. We finally compromised by his allowing me to slip one of the windows down a few inches from the top, but at that I nearly smothered before morning. I had originally intended remaining a week, but I left before noon the next day. Not, however, without first telling my friend a few plain facts concerning his sleeping room arrangements.

Throw your windows open and have plenty of good, pure air in your sleeping room. Never mind about that old fear of catching cold. Better take your chances than to go on sleeping in a close room with no ventilation. A few nights with air rustling the window curtains in your room and you will never try the sealed room system again.

Drink Plenty of Water.

These two things, food and sleeping, with regularity and system in both, are the most important items of healthy living. Next in importance, according to my way of thinking, is the drinking of plenty of pure water. You can't drink too much water. Just remember that. During my training days I remember one of the first requirements that my training camp should have was that it be so located that I would have the advantage of abundant, good, sparkling, pure water.

Before I skip the subject of food I want to say that I believe that Dr. Julian P. Thomas, the food specialist of New York, is on exactly the right track. Dr. Thomas contends that the natural foods are the best. While I am not as radical in my beliefs as Dr. Thomas is concerning cooked foods, I must support his views in the main. Dr. Thomas's hobby is that natural food, raw, just as it comes from the hand of Nature, is the best for body building and for health-giving effects. Pure milk, eggs, cereals, figs and fruits of all kinds are the leading foods for nourishment.

After food and sleep the most important thing is exercise. I wonder if the business man who sits at his desk all day long ever realizes how little exercise he gets and how much he really should have? I don't mean to say that the ordinary man should jump in and train like a boxer in preparation for a contest, but I do say that an hour, or even a half an hour, spent in the gymnasium each day will bring wonderful results.

Walking Best Exercise.

Don't wait until you are broken down and forced to take care of yourself, but start to-day. Make a resolution that commencing to-morrow you are going to start in and take the best of care of yourself. Have moderation for a by-word. If the early morning hour is the only time that you can exercise then make the best of it. Pick out the exercises that suit you best, map out your own program and then stick to it. Bending exercises, chest movements and skipping the rope are among the exercises that I consider of the most value.

The king of all exercise, however, is walking. Cut out the usual morning ride on the street car and walk down to work. Throw out your chest, swing your arms and strike a good gait. The blood will be tingling in every part of your body inside of five minutes, and you will feel as though you owned the earth.

The man who is so fixed that he can enjoy the luxury of a club gymnasium once a day is a lucky individual. To those men I would say never allow the dust to accumulate on your locker door. Stick to the work each day as though it was something that you were being paid a salary for doing. Class work is greatly beneficial, inasmuch as the comradeship inspires plenty of work.

My ideas as given above are all in the rough, but if you will attempt them you benefits.

ANDOVER TO MEET EXETER THIS WEEK

With the Andover-Exeter, and the St. Marks-Groton games on the schedule, this will be the banner week in school football. Andover and Exeter meet at Andover Saturday, and St. Marks and Groton will clash at Groton on Wednesday. In addition to these contests Somerville will give Malden its first real tryout of the season at Somerville. Boston Latin and Mechanic Arts High School teams play in the Boston High School series at the American League grounds; Waltham with a clean slate will meet Newton at Waltham, Everett meets Salem at Salem, and Commercial High clashes with Dorchester at Dorchester, all of these games to be played on Saturday.

There is the usual interest in the Andover-Exeter game. On paper Andover looks to be the stronger, but in past years, as a rule, what has looked to be the stronger team has been beaten. This year both teams have been coached by Dartmouth men, Johnny Glaze being at Exeter.

THORPE IS GREAT KICKER.

Thorpe, of the Indians, is the real champion of the nimble-toe artists. He has a record of seven goals this year. He won the Syracuse and Penn State games for the Indians by kicking three field goals in each. He was unable to maintain his reputation against Pennsylvania, for he missed on several attempts. McCoa of Lafayette is prominent among the field goal kickers, his latest achievement being in kicking two goals against Brown and thereby winning the game for Lafayette.

LOBERT SAVED MONEY.

Hans Lobert has been cheated out of his job as best man for Artie Hofman at the latter's wedding to Miss Looker of Akron, which was to have occurred on October 29. Artie just couldn't wait, so was married last week in Chicago. Lobert is disappointed, but there is some surcease from sorrow in the thought that he saves the price of the hiring of a dress suit and will not have to pay railroad fare from Pittsburg to Akron and return.

CORBETT PRAISES JEFFRIES

BY JAMES J. CORBETT,

Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Jeffries's demand of $5,000 for refereeing the Johnson-Burns go set the tongues of the pugilistic game wagging, and if he never goes to the Antipodes the asking him to go and his high-priced answer has served to bring the contrast between him and other boxers before the public in a forcible manner.

Jeffries as the third man in the ring would be almost as big a drawing card as either of the fighters, and what a rude awakening it would be to the Australians to get a look at the giant who retired because he couldn't find any one who would give him an argument in the ring.

When Burns lines up with the ebony-hued giant he will look like a pigmy. Johnson has it on Tommy to the extent of about a foot in height and thirty-five pounds in weight. But Johnson, with all his size, would look like a man whose growth had been stunted if he appeared in a squared circle with Jeffries.

And if Jeffries goes to the Antipodes he may stay there long enough to show the fight promoters that he still has one or two fights left in him. In fact, the Australian capitalists who have put up the enormous guarantee for the Johnson-Burns bout, and then cabled Jeffries the offer to boss the job, have a method in their madness. They realize that the winner of the battle and Jeffries would make the greatest card in the pugilistic world.

Would Never Fight Negro.

I belive if Johnson won there would be no amount of money that would induce Jeff to climb into the ring with the black man. The big fellow has some pretty set ideas about the colored race, and unless he becomes influenced by the Australian customs, where a colored man is more respected than in America, he never will meet him. And if Jeff did it would be all day with Johnson, for no matter how the fight resulted with Burns, Jeffries could whip the colored man almost as he liked.

In traveling about the country I have learned that Tommy Burns is not taken seriously as heavyweight champion, and I can't understand why. Tommy has done more to earn the title than half the big men that ever reached the top. He walloped the champions of England, Ireland and Australia, and the would-be champions of America. He has sidestepped no white man and is one of the gamest, toughest nuts that ever donned a padded mitt. Tommy never has taken the full count in a battle, and has served a sleep punch to a large and varied assortment of pugilists.

If Jeff finally is induced to go to the Antipodes and Burns wins, and there is any chance to get Tommy and Big Jim together, I cannot for the life of me see why some American promoter cannot outbid the Australians. In America Jeffries and Burns would draw a great house, providing, of course, that Tommy puts the kibosh on Johnson.

Boxing, Not Prize Fighting.

The reform movement against boxing sweeps over the country almost annually, but each year there is quite a noticeable decrease in its effectiveness. In fact, the American people in many centres have almost forgotten the term prize fight and adopted the word boxing almost exclusively. This is a mighty good move and helps along the movement to do away with and forever wipe out the thoughts of the old days of bare knuckle fighting and rough and tumble scenes.

Much of the antagonism to the ring to-day is the result of the feeling of many years ago, and wherever a movement is on foot to kill the sport you will find out that it is due to tradition handed down and not to a present day view of boxing.

There is absolutely no danger in present-day boxing matches that are limited to six, ten and twenty rounds, or even twenty-five rounds. A physician can easily determine whether a man is fit for a contest of a limited number of rounds and thereby eliminate any danger of a serious ending.

Nelson as Dictator.

According to the howl set up by Packy McFarland and the other lightweights, Nelson has lost his bearing entirely. At least Bat cannot hear the demands of the other boys so far as the ring goes. McFarland and his manager have been dictating terms so long that it is hard for them to realize that in order to fix up with Nelson they will have to accede to the Dane's demands. Nelson wants a long fight and wants the big end of the purse, and unless he gets it there probably will be no engagement in the near future between those two men. Bat has put in a year of hard work and he is of the opinion that he is entitled to rest, and he probably will take it. In the meantime, it wouldn't be a bad move for some of the other lightweights looking for Nelson's scalp to get together in an elimination contest.

CLARKE BEATS KRAMER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The outdoor cycling racing season of 1908 ended at the Vailsburg board track in Newark, and little Clarke of Australia triumphed over Frank L. Kramer in the special team match race. Floyd McFarland, the Californian, was Clarke's partner, while Kramer had Joe Fogler of Brooklyn. The results of each of the two trial heats, however, were due almost entirely to the individual efforts of Kramer and Clarke, and their teammates cut little figure in the final sprints.

GILBERT MAY BE CARDINALS' MANAGER

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—"'Billy' Gilbert is going to manage the Cardinals," said Joe McGinnity, pitcher of the New York Giants, to a reporter here last night. At the time Joe was in the company of Larry Doyle, second baseman of the New York Nationals.

McGinnity, who was on his way to Oklahoma, said: "Gilbert told me before I left New York that he had been appointed manager of the Cardinals by Stanley Robison.

"'I've got the job and everything is settled so I can take charge the first of the year,' Gilbert informed me," continued McGinnity. "Billy made no secret of the matter, telling among others Johnny McGraw."

President Robison said here to-day he had been negotiating for a manager, but had not gone far enough to make any announcement.

WAGNER IS BEST BATTER

Honus Wagner of Pittsburg won the batting honors in the National League, topping Mike Donlin, the New York captain, by 20 points in the official figures for the season closed last month. Wagner made 201 hits, while Donlin connected safely 198 times. There were half a dozen batters with an average of .300 or better, New York having Donlin, Doyle and Herzog in that exclusive circle, while Pittsburg had Wagner, Philadelphia "Kitty" Bransfield and Chicago, world's champions, Johnny Evers. Stem was the Boston's leading man, standing sixteenth with .278; "Peaches" Graham was one point ahead of Claude Ritchey with .274.

GOULD TIES IN TENNIS.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Jay Gould, amateur court tennis champion of the world, played an exhibition match with John White, professional, of the Racquet and Tennis Club, New York, on the court of the Tuxedo Racquet and Tennis Club. The match was a tie, being called on account of darkness after each had won two sets.

AMATEURS WILL BOX IN FIRST B. A. A. TOURNEY

Local patrons of the boxing game will have to be content with hearing of results in other parts of the pugilistic world this week as there is nothing doing around here except the amateur bouts which start up at the B. A. A. with the preliminaries on Wednesday, and the finals on Saturday night.

Considerable interest in the game has fallen off in New York since the shutting down and the latest announcement is the calling off of the Langford-O'Brien match which was scheduled for Friday night and this was the topliner on the bill over in Gotham. The bout may be transferred to Philadelphia.

The meeting of Matty Baldwin and Jim Driscoll, the English champion, in New York Thursday night will be another good bout if authorities do not interfere. The sports will be able to get a line on Driscoll, who is reputed to be one of the cleverest boxers developed in England. His defeat of Joey Bowker, who won easily over Owen Moran, shows that he must be far ahead of most of the Englishmen seen in this country. No better boxer could have been secured to meet Driscoll in his debut in this country than Baldwin.

Jim Pendergast, who exploded Australian Bill Warren, is billed for a ten-round bout with Jack (Twin) Sullivan at Halifax Thursday night, but if Sullivan makes up his mind to go to Australia to train Tommy Burns there will be a change in the program.

Pendergast is a promising heavyweight and the experience he would gain in a bout with the big twin would be valuable to him.

Jim Barry and Jim Flynn clash in Los Angeles Friday night, and should put up a rugged contest.

The Armory A. A. decided not to hold a meeting Tuesday night, on account of it being election night. It will, however, receive the election returns at the clubhouse.

It is not likely that Jack (Twin) Sullivan will go to Australia to train Tommy Burns, who cabled for him to come. The big twin arrived from New York yesterday, and wired Burns's representative in San Francisco that if given two round-trip tickets and $300 he would make the trip. Sullivan is not very enthusiastic over the offer, as he wants a bout with Burns himself.

The New Haven promoter is trying to tie up Willie and Harry Lewis for a bout, November 16.

Battling Nelson changed his plans about leaving Boston. He will leave at 5 this evening for New York. After a brief stay in that city he will go to his home.

HARLOW'S FIVE WILL BE FAST

The Harlow Club of Dorchester, one of the well-known athletic clubs of Greater Boston will be represented by a strong basketball team this year. The weight of the team will average 130 pounds. They would like to hear from all teams giving a reasonable guarantee. The team is composed of many of the former high school stars, which include Keenan, Callanan, A. De Coen, Doty, O'Brien and Mundo. For games apply to Charles W. Boris, No. 476 Quincy street, Dorchester, Mass. Telephone 6950 Main.

BOXING BITS OF NEWS

Packy McFarland caused it to be known in New York the other night that he has just purchased another piece of property in Chicago for $4,500. Evidently Packy is neglecting a chance to tell the home folk how he is saving his money.

The boxing game is to be revived in Milwaukee soon after the election, but title fights seem to be things of the past. The sheriff in the Cream City practically agreed to permit bouts to again be held, but informed the promoters that no title contests can be held. It is said the extensive advertising title bouts got hurts the game.

Young Britt, the persistent challenger of Johnny Coulon at 115 pounds, has taken on a match with Patsy Kline, a little fellow said to be as good as any of them in the East. They are to box in Baltimore November 6, the contest being slated for fifteen rounds.

Jim Stewart's manager has accepted terms for a twenty-round bout in San Francisco Thanksgiving eve, his opponent to be either John Wille or Marvin Hart. The purse offered is $2,500.

They are talking out in Los Angeles of giving Johnny Frayne of San Francisco the next chance against Freddie Welsh, providing Packy McFarland does not come to terms for the Thanksgiving Day bout pretty soon. Frayne has been in the East and made good in several bouts.

A postal card from Al Fellows, the Chicago featherweight who is now on his way to Australia with Harry Lombard, the lightweight, reads: "Just leaving for Vancouver, B. C., where we sail for Sydney. I am on the Oriental Limited. Four Chinks, two Japs, one Corean, one Indian, two cowboys, one Russian, two Swedes and some Irish make up the occupants of the smoker. A lively time is going to be had."

When Tom Jones, the big manager of Billy Papke, told the Chicago scribes that he was getting an $8,000 guarantee in the next Ketchel fight, he must ha' been a dreamin'. Jack Gleason, who is promoting the fight, is greatly peeved at Jones because of the spread of the story which placed him at the head of all the wild financiers. Gleason wants Jones to go ahead and imagine anything he wants, but he is not going to get a king's ransom just the same.

Nothing but silence from the Johnson-Burns battle ground. Wonder what our long absent ones are uncovering now? Come out into the moonlight, my worthies, that we may give a look.

The London Sporting Life has this to say about James Edward, and says it like this: "At Wonderland on November 2, a keen and [illegible] Summers, the hero of many [illegible] matches, and Britt, conqueror of Battling Nelson, and numerous other American [illegible]. The men are to box twenty rounds for a substantial percentage of the gate receipts and as a minimum guarantee Mr. [illegible] has lodged a check for $1,000 at the Sporting Life office, where Britt has also deposited $250 as an assurance for his appearance in the ring.

Al Kaufmann and Terry Mustain were matched for a twenty-five round bout at Vernon on the night of November 10. Mustain is the man who made Jack (Twin) Sullivan jump out of the ring at Goldfield.

[illegible] is to box George Memsic at the National Club, November 7, and is going to take off fourteen pounds to make the 133-pound weight.

Manager Tom O'Brien of the Empire Athletic Club is negotiating for a twenty-round fight in Bakersfield early in November between Freddie Welsh and Johnny Murphy of San Francisco.

"Kid" Davis of America, who holds the lightweight championship of France, fought a twenty-round draw for the title with Alf Goodwin of England in Paris.

Fight fans in Los Angeles are looking forward to a fiery affair November 6 at the Pacific A. A., when Jim Flynn meets Jim Barry. The meeting between the two Jims promises to be a grudge fight pure and simple, as the bitterest of feeling exists there.

HORSE NEWS TRACK GOSSIP

The Kalamazoo track is now being resurfaced.

McKinney, 2.11¼, has joined the "century sires." He now has 103 standard performers to his credit.

Prodigal, 2.16, and Bobby Burns, 2.19¼, are on the waiting list. Each has passed the ninety mark.

The produce of The Leading Lady, 3, 2.07, by either Moko, Walnut Hall or Peter the Great, 2.07¼, should be worth a small fortune at weaning time.

El Red, the four-year-old pacing son of Redlac, 2.07½, has lowered his record to 2.08¼.

The Broncho, 2.00¾, has been jogging strongly for some time and goes perfectly sound.

The very fast four-year-old pacing filly Ruth D., 2.03¾, was injured in [illegible] shipment that she may never be able to race again.

The local harness horse enthusiasts gave Geers a great reception when he arrived at Memphis for the Winter.

Secretary Knight reports that the season of 1908 has been by far the busiest and best in the history of the American Trotting Association.

M. L. Hare, the veteran Indiana breeder, has purchased the noted pacing stallion, [illegible] Direct, 4, 2.05¼, by Direct, 2.05½—Bon Bon, 2.26, by Simmons, 2.28.

Pactolus, 2.12¾, is surely a trotting sire. Its first standard pacer has just arrived in Pactolus Boy, 2.21. All the rest of his 39 performers are trotters.

This year's great Allentown, Pa., fair cleared $24,300. The total attendance during the four days was 207,000, an average of 50,000 per day. These are wonderful figures and they also represent facts.

Redwood, 2.10¼, winner of the Walnut Hall Cup several seasons ago at Lexington, has been very busy over the half-mile tracks, winning 14 races out of 17 starts.

St. Louis, 2.11¼, the game trotting gelding, has been retired for the season, as his last time was [illegible] since the middle of August; he won six and was twice second.

$2,000 cash was offered and refused for [illegible], 2.10¼, this year before the Review and Kentucky Futurities were raced, and before The Harvester had been uncovered.

Douglass (2.12½) is in Lon McDonald's stable at Indianapolis. The gray son of Todd should be one of the fastest trotters out next year.

It is already hinted from the "inner chamber" that some of the big pacing events next year will be for horses with records slower than 2.12¼.

John H. Tobin of New Haven has bought the [illegible] pacer Addie P., 2.10½, and will breed her to his Direct Hal horse Hal Direct (2.05¼).

The New England Breeders' Association might do worse than hold its big meeting next year over the Salem (N. H.) track.

Lon McDonald tops the money-winning drivers, with $54,000 to his credit. Ed Geers is second with only a couple of thousand less. Gus Macey is third, his total being around $35,000.

George M. Stevens of Lancaster, N. H., had the pleasure of seeing a trotter bred by himself work in 2.14 while in Kentucky. She is a daughter of Clay and came north in Walter Cox's car.

W. D. Hunt's good fun horse, Alonira (2.18) earned more money this past season than winning two championship cups at the Readville matinees. He has a pacing son out in the far West called Dorax, who has stepped in 2.16¾.

OPEN CHECKER MATCHES.

A checker tournament, open to the public, will be held this evening at the Wells Memorial Checker Club. All players are invited to participate.

ATHLETES WILL HOLD BIG BALL

Big Roxbury athletes who are members of the Armory Athletic Associates are hustling hard to make the second grand ball of the club in Corinthian Hall, No. 1651 Washington street, on Friday, November 6 next, a big success. "Bunny" Tom Madden of Portland, Oregon, Huck Lyons, Billy Cooney of the Fall Rivers, "Cat" Lindberg of the star Readings and a bunch of high jumpers, sprinters and local sparrers who belong to the club will be there. From 8 to 9 p. m. a fine concert will precede the grand march, in which dress-suited star athletes will shine with beautiful Roxbury girls as partners.

BIG BASKETBALL CARD.

The Somerville Y. M. C. A. basketball team has arranged an exceptional schedule of home games for the season beginning October 28 with Brookline at the headquarters, No. 101 Highland avenue. Games will take place every Wednesday night till March.

TAILORS' CLEARING HOUSE.

DON'T BE A READY-MADE MAN

GEORGE'S, 14 Summer st., Boston. GEORGE'S, 259 W. 34th St., New York. GEORGE'S, 101 S. 15th St., Phila., Pa.

WHY THE SKEPTICAL DOUBT GEORGE'S VALUES.

ALTHOUGH we have for 20 years offered the public merchant tailors' misfit and uncalled for garments at one-third value, many skeptics doubt our values. This is because no other store in Boston can equal our offers. But our system is different from every other establishment, and we have advantages they do not possess. It will cost nothing to call and test our offers. Here are 2 samples of our 3,000 garments now here. Sack Suit, dark gray, the new 3-button dip front effects, regular style for young men, made to order by Lawrence of Broadway, N. Y., for $40, our price $15. Medium weight Overcoat, covert cloth, dark tan, very stylish, custom made by noted Boston tailor for $50, our price $18. GEORGE'S TAILOR PARLORS, 14 SUMMER STREET, Near Washington. Open Saturday night. Established 1879. Originators of the Sale of Merchant Tailors' Misfit and Uncalled For Garments.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON, NOVEMBER 2, 1908

A FINAL WARNING: DON'T BE FOOLED AGAIN BY THE OLD PARTY POLITICIANS

Last year we warned our readers not to vote for Henry M. Whitney, the candidate of the Democratic party. Many of our readers took that advice. They refused to be hoodwinked by the appeals of the corrupt old party politicians and of the old party newspapers not to "throw away their votes."

The result was that the candidate of the Democratic party received opposite his party designation less votes than the candidate of the Independence League received.

The persons who threw away their votes in that campaign were the ones who voted for Henry M. Whitney.

This year we again say to our readers, don't be fooled by the cries of the old party bosses and the servile newspapers. Late reports from all parts of the State show that the outlook for the Independence League IS MUCH BRIGHTER THAN IT WAS LAST YEAR.

Democrats and Republicans both say that Mr. Draper will be elected. DON'T THROW AWAY YOUR VOTE, THEN, ON MR. DRAPER. He doesn't need it.

Don't throw away your vote on Mr. Vahey. He has no possible chance of election.

Vote for a man who STANDS FOR SOMETHING, who believes in the things that you believe in, and who has been fighting for those things for the last twenty years.

We say to you now, solemnly, that if you are opposed to trusts and dishonest corporations, if you believe in direct legislation by the people themselves, the only way you can cast your vote so that it will NOT be thrown away is to cast it for WILLIAM N. OSGOOD.

The Case Now Goes to the Jury

Consider All the Evidence Carefully Before You Vote

This is the day before election. The evidence, as the lawyers say, is all in, the last fact has been presented, the last witness has given his testimony.

It is the time for summing up. The great jury of Massachusetts freemen gives its verdict to-morrow.

What ought that verdict to be? What is to be decided? What are the issues? It is to be decided who are the men and what are the policies that shall govern the State during the next year.

The three militant parties have presented Mr. Osgood, Mr. Draper and Mr. Vahey for Governor. The citizens of Massachusetts must decide between these gentlemen according to their records, their associations and their policies.

Mr. Osgood is the candidate of the Independence League. He was an independent Democrat before he joined the Independence League, and the Democracy in its most triumphant days when it was electing and re-electing Russell Governor thought well enough of Mr. Osgood to nominate him for Attorney-General on the same ticket with Russell.

But Mr. Osgood did not think well enough of the Democratic party to remain in it after the rise of the Independence League gave him an opportunity to leave it and to go where the principles be loved would be nurtured and consistently propagated, and away from the party where they were always murdered, now by the hypocritical espousal of men who secretly hated them and then by total, utter and brutal abandonment.

For years Mr. Osgood has been one of the great expounders of popular reforms in the Commonwealth. Fifteen years ago Mr. Osgood was the author of an able defence of direct legislation, which was adopted and circulated by the direct legislation league. A man whose wisdom permitted him to appreciate the splendid reinforcement the initiative and referendum would give a government of, for and by the people of this country, and in those early days whose courage permitted him to advocate them, needs no letter of credit to the citizens of Massachusetts.

He has not changed since them. Time has only confirmed his opinion, given him more evidence of their truth and more eloquence with which to advocate them.

A true defender of legislative equality is always a defender of industrial equality. As Mr. Osgood has urged that the influence upon legislation of every class and group be equal, so he has urged that the workingmen be placed upon an equality with their employers before the law and under the operation of the processes of the courts.

Four years ago, while serving upon a commission appointed by the Governor to investigate the relations of employers and employes, of which Carrol D. Wright was chairman, Mr. Osgood dissented from the report of his colleagues and urged and submitted a bill calculated to permit peaceable "picketing" by labor unions.

Mr. Osgood has not altered his opinion on that question so near to the hearts and the interests of the workingmen. He is now leading a party devoted to the advancement of these great reforms his clear vision and patriotic impulses have attached him to these many years.

Mr. Osgood is a man to look upon, a man in manners and a man in honor, a leader to look upon, a leader in bearing and a LEADER IN CAPACITY.

Mr. Draper is the Republican candidate. He was born to great wealth, largely acquired through the special privileges of class legislation and the oppression of workingmen. He is in politics to increase the influence he wishes to have in the contest to preserve the outrageous benefits his business reaps from an outrageous protective tariff and from the unjust handicaps the courts put upon the workingmen who are struggling toward the light out of the dark and oppressive feudalism of his factories.

He is all that such wealth, so acquired and so preserved, has made him. He is the leader of the Bourbon, the Mediaeval reactionaries of the Republican party. He is of the reactionaries, reactionary.

He is the arch type of the class who believe that nature made them out of special blue clay, while the rest of us were moulded from common, greasy, yellow stuff. He would quite misinterpret the humble grace of the distinguished English prelate, who said, as he saw a ragged and unfortunate man pass on the street, "There, but by the grace of God, go I."

He is the fitting leader of a party well fitted to follow such a man, a party under whose control of the government and laws of the country the evils that beset the nation and State have grown up. His State committee is officered by lobbyists and men whose uncanny profession it is to corrupt the laws and the servants of their fellow-citizens that a few may gain something at the expense of many.

Mr. Vahey is the candidate of the Democratic party. Not much need be said of him.

If we say that he is a lawyer and wants business, we have told the truth and have given him all the benefit he seeks in this political campaign. He is as barren of consistent principles as the unsteady party whose leader he has now been constituted.

Two years ago he was consorting with the political opponents of John B. Moran when that forceful man was fighting for recognition by the Democratic party. Moran's splendid program of principles weighed nothing in Mr. Vahey's choice of sides. But the great endorsement which the people gave these principles at the polls astonished and impressed Mr. Vahey and determined him to seek popularity in the Senate by the advocacy of many of the spectacular features of Mr. Moran's platform.

YESTERDAY Mr. Vahey was an ultra conservative, a Parker delegate to the national convention and an opponent of Moran. TO-DAY he is an IMITATOR OF MORAN and a radical.

He, too, is a fitting leader of a party fitted to follow such a man. Both are as unstable as the waters.

Firm in the right as it is given them to see the right, the Independence League and its candidates with confidence await the verdict of the jury of Massachusetts citizens to-morrow.

THE DRIFTING SEAWEED

Its Lesson for the Man Who Talks About "Throwing Away My Vote"

This is for the man who talks about "throwing away my vote."

This is for the man who would vote like a sheep and be always with the big herd.

Fortunately some men are not sheep, some men would rather be right in the minority than wrong in the majority.

The only thing in a man's vote IS THE RIGHT, CONQUERED AFTER MANY CENTURIES OF STRUGGLE, TO THINK AND TO BACK UP HIS THOUGHTS WITH A VOTE.

What is your vote?

Isn't your vote made to distinguish YOU as a thinking man? Isn't it the weapon with which you can rebuke Republican bosses like Lodge and Crane, who force such a candidate as Draper down the throats of their party? Isn't it the weapon with which to rebuke selfish "leaders" whose quarrels have demoralized the Democratic party and have brought it to the level of an incompetent and a weakling, like Vahey?

There is a very interesting story told of the discovery of this country by Columbus; you know that his men were discouraged, and in mutiny. He had sailed on and on, across the sea which the ignorant world then believed to be unconquerable. Some of his sailors were expecting at any moment that their ship would reach the edge and fall off—for that was the belief then.

Columbus, looking over the bow of his boat, saw floating on the water a branch of seaweed, one that grows clinging to the rocks on the shore's edge. When Columbus saw the weed floating below his boat, although he was still out of sight of land, he knew that land was near. And from that floating weed, separated from the rest, adrift on the ocean, he got the courage and the inspiration to go on ahead and win.

Here are a few verses from a poem by Elizabeth Pullen that you might read to your friends that only want to "vote with the winner":

The flying sea-bird mocked the floating dulse:
"Poor, wandering water-weed, where dost thou go,
Astray upon the ocean's restless pulse?"
It said, "I do not know.

* * * * *

"A worthless weed, a drifting, broken weed—
What can I do in all this boundless sea
No creature of the universe has need
Or any thought of me."
Hither and yonder, as the winds might blow,
The seaweed floated; then a refluent tide
Swept it along to meet a galleon's prow—
"Land ho!" Columbus cried.

That piece of seaweed might have clung to the rock with all the other millions of weeds like it indefinitely without ever doing anything or anybody any good. It broke away from the rock, away from the seaweed crowd, and encouraged a great mind.

Exactly so with the man who votes independently. He breaks away from the old rock and the old crowd. He goes off by himself. He may think, and others may think, that his vote is "lost," just as that weed thought itself lost in the ocean's vastness. But independence, thoughtfulness, SINCERITY are never lost. One single man voting and acting independently may be an inspiration to others, and his defeat may mean glorious victory to follow.

Many thought that poor old John Brown was "losing his vote." He certainly was losing his life, when he, alone, without friends, with nothing but his courage and convictions, declared himself for the abolition of slavery. He not only thought and talked and acted as he felt, but he was willing to die for his feelings. They hanged him for talking of freeing slaves, BUT THEY FREED THE SLAVES. And his independence of action is one of the things, one of the many bits of floating seaweed on the sea of human life, that lead to abolition of slavery.

Think that over, voters, when you talk about "throwing away your vote." When you stick like a sheep in the flock, when you go with the others automatically, then, indeed, YOU ARE THROWING AWAY YOUR VOTE.

But when you vote as an honest, thinking, INDEPENDENT man, you are proving that the men who gave up their lives to secure universal suffrage were not wasting their time, their lives and their blood.

Voters, think for yourselves and vote as YOU think.

Sold Out by Democratic Bosses

What Has Happened in a Boston Senatorial District

Just a word to the voters of the Fifth Suffolk Senatorial District. How do you like being sold out by the political bosses at the behest of the big corporations? What are you going to do about it? The answer will be given in the polling booths to-morrow.

Here are the facts. Think them over, if you are not on the payroll of the trusts. Charles D. B. Fiske of Brighton is the Senator from the Fifth District, which includes Wards 10, 11 and 25.

Because he voted against the interests of the home-owners of his own section, a Brighton clergyman denounced him from the pulpit. Because he was double-faced with organized labor on a very important measure and opposed the interests of the workers on every occasion, workingmen have officially, in convention, condemned him.

In order to help him overcome these handicaps placed in his way by serious and honest men, the Democratic bosses in the district so manipulated the primaries that no Democratic candidate was nominated against him.

In other words, to help the pet candidate of the big corporations return to the Senate, the Democratic bosses of Wards 10, 11 and 25 sold out their party.

Again, Mr. Democrat, what are you going to do about it to-morrow when you stand in the polling booth with your ballot, your pencil and your conscience?

And you, too, Mr. Republican, if you pride yourself on being an honest man, what is your decision going to be? Are you going to approve of such shameless political trading?

You have a fine chance to show your detestation of such practices. There is an honest man running in the district. His name is William C. Johnson. His candidacy offers you a fine opportunity.
